Star Publicizes Hope

Editorial Jan. 16 in Lafayette County Democrat, Lewisville, Briner Thomas, editor and publisher

When Alex Washburn, editor of the Hope Star, came out editorially in his paper and objected to building a new Post Office in Hope he made a lot of people in Hope very angry, he made a lot of people glad, but he got more publicity for the City of Hope than any other thing has done in a long, long time.

My niece, Mrs. Fred Jamail, of Houston, Texas, sent me a clipping from the Houston Post which told the story about the Hope Post Office and Washburn's stand. I sent the clipping on to Washburn and he in turn commented on it in the Saturday, Jan. 11th, edition. He sent me a copy of the paper and in it I read letters that he had received from people all over the United States telling him that they had read about it in their local paper and were praising Alex and the people of Hope for taking such a stand on Federal aid.

We, too, think that Alex is unique in taking such a stand because in most instances a person will criticize the government for putting money into a community for any reason, but when it comes to getting something in their own community they think it is the most wonderful thing that ever happened and praise their Congressman or Senator to the skies for using their influence for getting their share of the Federal hand-out.

Personally, I have always taken the opposite stand to this one by Alex because I figured the more we get on local projects the less they will have to give out in the form of "Foreign Aid", but maybe that is the wrong attitude.

We can see from the mess that the whole world is in that no one appreciates the United States pouring money into their country. Panama showed us how much respect they have for Americans and for the United States, and I doubt seriously that any country, except maybe Russia, has received any more help from us than Panama has.

So, Alex Washburn, you have taken a stand that all thinking people in the United States will praise you for, but if they get a chance to get the same money for their "home town" you can just bet they will not turn it down.

Letters to Editor

Editor The Star: You have given the city of Hope a lot of publicity. I was in the post office the day before Christmas. My kinfolks, the Dorsey Huckabees, 509 E. Second St., Hope, had invited me for Christmas. And yesterday I received from them copies of your Jan. 8 and Jan. 3 issues. Very interesting.

Editor The Star: I read with interest your Associated Press article "Economy Should Begin at the Grass-Roots Level." I agree.

We have some problem in Liberty, Mo. The government has already built four new post office buildings in this county — and Liberty will be the fifth.

It appears to me on the "You build, I'll lease" deal the government has with post offices from individuals — If they can do it in 30 years, paying for the building from lease money, the Department could afford to modify its spending by using the present building and not paying a fat profit through rent to some political individual. I read your article in the Kansas City Star.

Editor The Star: Congratulations on your stand in connection with a new post office in your city. We read with great interest the story in Tuesday's (Jan. 14) Kansas City Times (morning edition of Kansas City Star). You are to be admired for standing up for what you think is right in these days of profligate spending and waste of taxpayers' money.

In 1962 when Congress was having so many debates about Medicare I wrote to our two senators and one representative to the effect that veterans did not care one iota about Medicare but if Congress wished to help veterans just eliminate the total that a veteran could earn after he became 65.

I must admit that too many just sit down and do nothing when they retire, but on the other hand there are many like me who wish to keep busy and not rust out as many do when they retire at 65. One can not wear out, but he sure can rust out if he sits and does nothing after he retires.

More power to you and best wishes from Mrs. Langley and me.

P.S. — I am enclosing here-with a copy of my retirement business cards: "What? YOU HERE AGAIN? Another half-hour shot to —"

Ed Note: Thanks, Mr. Langley, but editors don't retire. They may drop dead — or get shot... but they don't retire.

Passage of Rights Bill by Feb. 7 Possible

By JOHN BECKLER

WASHINGTON (AP) — House passage of a civil rights bill by Feb. 7 appeared a strong possibility today as the result of a revolt in the House Rules Committee.

A bipartisan majority of the committee is preparing to seize control and cut off hearings on the bill in time to get it passed before the House takes its annual Lincoln birthday recess.

The revolt is aimed at Chairman Howard W. Smith, D-Va., leader of the Southern forces opposing the bill, who had planned to continue the hearings until the end of January.

Smith headed off any attempt to end the hearings Wednesday by hastily adjourning them for the day while his chief adversaries were absent plotting strategy. But a showdown today appeared inevitable.

Rep. Richard Bolling, D-Mo., leader of the forces trying to speed action on the bill, said Wednesday night he is prepared to force a vote on ending the hearings at today's session. Bolling is counting on the support of the committee's Republicans in his maneuver. There are 10 Democrats and 5 Republicans on the committee but 4 of the Democrats are from the South.

Pressure on the Rules Committee to move the bill quickly is coming from both the Democratic and Republican leaders in the House. The Democrats are feeling the heat from President Johnson and the Republicans have decided they would be in a better position to hold Lincoln Day rallies if they had helped pass a civil rights bill. Bolling has told Smith of his plan in hopes it won't be necessary to use force to cut off the hearings.

West Told to Scrap Nuclear Arms Force

By MICHAEL GOLDSMITH

GENEVA (AP) — The Soviet Union said today the West must scrap its proposed multilateral nuclear force before there can be any agreement to stop the spread of nuclear weapons.

The Soviet disarmament negotiator, Semyon K. Tsarapkin, told newsmen "the multilateral force has to be cleared away" before East and West can reach an agreement on President Johnson's proposal Tuesday to bar nuclear weapons from nations that don't have them. Johnson worded his proposal so that the nuclear force the United States has proposed for the North Atlantic Treaty Organization would be exempt.

Tsarapkin said his government was studying Johnson's five-point arms proposal and would reply to it in due course.

The Soviet reaction to the proposal to stop the spread of nuclear weapons surprised no one. Tsarapkin in his speech at the resumption of the 17-nation disarmament conference Tuesday made a similar proposal, but he called specifically for it to apply to the multilateral force.

Western delegations at this stage are certain to reject any formal Soviet demand for abandonment of the NATO nuclear force. But there were some indications that if the Soviet Union accepted genuine and far-reaching disarmament measures together with control and inspection procedures demanded by the West, the United States would consider scrapping the multilateral force.

Many Western officials believe the costly multilateral force would be made obsolete by the new security that NATO members would obtain from such an unprecedented disarmament agreement.

Cuba Likely to Stick With Khrushchev

MOSCOW (AP) — Prime Minister Fidel Castro has put Cuba behind Premier Khrushchev in his ideological dispute with Communist China following a Soviet pledge to pay more than $2.6 billion for Cuban sugar in the next six years.

Castro's support of the Kremlin was proclaimed in a joint Cuban-Soviet communiqué issued Wednesday night to mark the end of the Cuban leader's 10-day visit to Moscow. Castro is with Khrushchev on a hunting holiday in the Ukraine.

Castro praised Moscow's policy of peaceful coexistence, called the treaty limiting nuclear testing "a step forward to peace and disarmament" and supported the Soviet Communist party's measures "to remove the existing differences and strengthen the unity and cohesion of the ranks of the international Communist movement."

The statement appeared to end Castro's flirtation with Red China, which takes opposite positions on all these key issues.

Like Communist China, Cuba has refused to sign the Moscow-backed test-ban treaty. This has annoyed the Soviets in view of their heavy economic aid to the Caribbean nation.

While the communiqué gave no specific Castro pledge to sign the treaty, the Cuban government praised "the successes achieved by the Soviet Union in the struggle for ending nuclear tests and the agreement to keep nuclear weapons off vehicles in orbit."

Khrushchev renewed his promise to protect Cuba from any U.S. invasion "with all means at his disposal." The last such promise was made several weeks ago at a Kremlin ceremony marking the fifth anniversary of the Cuban revolution on New Year's Day.

The joint communiqué also endorsed Panama's efforts to seek revision or abrogation of the 1903 Panama Canal Treaty and denounced the "aggressive policies" of the United States. However, Castro added his government is prepared to re-establish "good neighbor relations" with the United States on "the basis of peaceful coexistence of states with different social systems."

Heavy Fog, Mist Over Arkansas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Heavy fog and mist over most of Arkansas reduced the forest fire danger today after a four-day outbreak of fires which destroyed 15,439 acres outside the state's national forests.

The threat actually dropped Wednesday when the Forestry Commission recorded only 32 fires on 633 acres.

The day before there were 101 fires on 3,584 acres and Sunday, when the outbreak started, 79 fires destroyed 9,534 acres.

The four-day fire total reached 281. An estimated 15,000 acres were destroyed in the national forests.

Jim Talley, fire chief for the state Forestry Commission, said that conditions should not be too bad today because most districts were reporting light rain or mist.

The moisture is not sufficient, however, to hold the danger down if the sun comes out again and the wind rises.

Former Resident of County Dies

Mrs. Emma E. Huckabee, aged 86, a former resident of Hempstead, died Wednesday in a Texarkana hospital. She had lived in Texarkana for the past 20 years.

Surviving are two sons, Perry and Ernest Huckabee of Texarkana and a sister, Mrs. Minnie Turnage of Delhart, Texas.

Services were to be held at 3 p.m. Thursday at Hempstead Community Chapel. Burial will be in Evening Shade Cemetery.

Debate on Tax Cut Likely by Next Week

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Finance Committee aims to complete work and vote final approval today of the $11 billion tax cut bill. Debate by the full Senate would begin next week.

President Johnson has urged quick passage of the measure, saying it will help rocket the economy to record heights this year.

The committee vaulted a high hurdle Wednesday, approving unanimously the rate reductions for individuals that had been written in the bill originally passed by the House.

The senators made only one change. They adopted President Johnson's proposal to put the new 14 per cent withholding rate into effect as soon as the measure becomes law.

The House version, which contemplated enactment in 1963, would have dropped the withholding rate from 18 per cent to 15 per cent in 1964, and then to 14 per cent in 1965.

After it became obvious that reductions could not become legally effective until perhaps March, Johnson asked that the two-step drop in the withholding rate be junked and the 14 per cent rate be established immediately.

The total cut for individuals is estimated at $9 billion when the measure takes full effect.

The individual rate cuts in the bill would mean a tax cut averaging about 19 per cent for all taxpayers. It would be somewhat more than this for those in the bottom and top brackets, less through the middle ranges.

Two-thirds of the rate cuts would be effective for 1964, with the reductions made retroactive to Jan. 1, and one-third in 1965.

A new range of 14 to 70 per cent would be substituted for the 20 to 91 per cent rates of present law.

As it passed the House, the bill called for over-all tax cuts for individuals and corporations totaling $11.1 billion. Congressional experts said this now had been boosted to about $11.5 billion by a series of changes made by the Finance Committee.

Services to Discourage Smoking

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — The top doctors of the Army, Navy and Air Force have recommended steps aimed at discouraging smoking among the 2.7 million men and women in uniform, it was learned today.

There would be no attempt to prohibit cigarette smoking, The Associated Press was told, but the military surgeon general proposed:

1. An educational program intended to point out to all service people the potentially harmful effects of smoking.

2. An end to service participation in what one surgeon general called "promotional schemes." Under this heading, he included gifts of cigarettes to military hospitals.

The surgeons general met Wednesday with Dr. Shirley C. Fisk, the Defense Department's health director. They discussed the Public Health Service's recent report linking cigarette smoking with lung cancer and various other life-shortening diseases.

Afterward, the Defense Department said, "No decisions were made on possible actions concerning the other" and that the subject would be studied further.

This gave the impression the meeting ended inconclusively. But Fisk told The AP in emphatic tones that it was a conclusive session and that he expected a common policy to emerge for all the services.

He declined to go into detail pending an expected formal announcement.

Statue Base Can't Be Brick

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The art commission has ruled that the base of a statue which will honor the late John B. Kelly cannot be brick.

Kelly, father of Princess Grace of Monaco, made a fortune as a brick contractor.

The statue of Kelly, an Olympic sculler in his youth, shows him seated in a scull.

The commission Wednesday rejected sculptor Harry Rosin's proposal for a brick pedestal in favor of black granite.

Bulletin

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Finance Committee voted today over strong administration objections to repeal $455 million of federal excise taxes on luggage, jewelry, cosmetics and furs.

The votes came as a surprise because in many cases they reversed decisions made earlier by the committee.

Drizzle Hits Parts of Arkansas

A welcome drizzle hit Central Arkansas and the Texarkana area today, slightly lessening forest fire worries. The remainder of the state kept watch for expected rain tonight.

The light rain was not expected to decrease the fire hazard appreciably. State Forester Fred Lang says conditions now are worse than they were this fall during an extended drought.

The Weather Bureau predicts cloudy to partly cloudy weather through Friday and says showers are likely late today in northwest and central Arkansas and tomorrow in all of the state.

Highs were generally in the 60s and 70s Wednesday. Overnight minimums were mostly in the 50s, the highest of the year to date.

Cooler weather is predicted Friday night and Saturday, and more rain the first part of next week.

Area Leaders in Dimes Campaign

Plans for the March of Dimes Campaign, now in progress, speeded up today as Campaign Director Lura Impson, announced the appointment of prominent citizens to leadership positions.

Named by Mrs. Impson were: Campaign Treasurer, Charlott Go a d, Community Leaders, Spring Hill — Mrs. Carl Hamilton, Fulton — Mrs. Finis Walden, McNab — Mrs. Mary Spates, McCaskill — Mrs. A. L. Ross, Saratoga — Mrs. Joe R. McDams, Ozan — Mrs. Dortha McKillip, Washington — Mrs. Frank Worthy, Blewins — Mrs. Wallace Neece, Toyko — Joan Stuart, Patmos — Mrs. Arnold Middlebrooks, Oakhaven — Mrs. Haskell Jones, Shover Springs — Mrs. Thelma Fuller, Holly Grove — Mrs. Eddie Sutton, De Ann — Mrs. Wayward Burke, Rocky Mound — Mrs. Ivan Bright, Centerville — Mrs. Vernie Goynes.

These appointees are directing the efforts of many volunteers who are seeking support in their home communities for the March of Dimes fight against crippling birth defects and arthritis.

Indonesia Ignores Agreement Made With Kennedy

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — President Sukarno declared tonight Indonesia will continue its hostile confrontation policy against Malaysia.

"Onward: No retreat!" The president said, repeating a slogan that hostility toward Malaysia would continue until the new country is crushed.

Sukarno's remarks came only hours after he and Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy issued statements saying there would be a cease-fire along the Malaysia-Indonesian border and that Indonesia would work for another summit conference on the Malaysia crisis.

At the same time Information Minister Roesslan Abduh declared in a radio address that Sukarno's agreement for a cease-fire and to work for a new summit conference did not mean that confrontation has been terminated.

By DON HUTH

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — U.S. Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy's Malaysia mission was crowned with success today. Indonesia and Malaysia agreed to stop the fighting along their Borneo border and to join the Philippines in a conference of foreign ministers.

After announcement of the agreement, Kennedy flew to Bangkok, Thailand, for three hours of conferences with Thai officials. He was to go on to London to give British officials a review of his talks in Asia.

The attorney general said he hoped the foreign ministers' meeting would lead to a new summit conference of the principals in the Malaysia dispute — Indonesian President Sukarno, Prime Minister Tunku Abdul Rahman of Malaysia and Philippine President Diosdado Macapagal.

However, some senior diplomats in Jakarta were not overly optimistic that another summit conference would produce a final solution to the crisis resulting from federation of the former British territories in Southeast Asia and Sukarno's announced determination to smash it.

Indonesian Foreign Minister Subandrio, appearing at a joint news conference with Kennedy, said the cease-fire in the undeclared guerrilla war in Borneo probably could be implemented within a week. He implied that Indonesian regular army troops would prevent raiders crossing from Indonesian Borneo into the Malaysian jungles of Sabah and Sarawak states.

There was no immediate comment from the British Embassy. Britain is pledged to defend Malaysia, where it retains bases, and several thousand British and British-hired Gurkha troops are in North Borneo. Sukarno, ambitious for Indonesia to be the dominant power in Southeast Asia, contends that Malaysia is a device to preserve Britain's colonial influence.

The Philippines also has opposed Malaysia but only in the diplomatic field and without the threats of violence that came from Jakarta. Philippine opposition is based on that nation's

Floor Covering Plant Coming to Prescott

PRESCOTT, Ark. (AP) — Plans for construction of a new $3.4 million floor covering plant at Prescott by Robbins Floor Products, Inc. of Tusculuma, Ala. were announced today.

Robbins President Poncet Davis Jr. said the 140,000 square foot facility will employ 125 persons at the start of production this fall.

Robbins, one of the nation's largest producers of vinyl flooring, places emphasis on research. Its present manufacturing facilities in Alabama will be continued. Sales offices are in New York City, Chicago, Los Angeles, Dallas and Miami.

The new plant, to be located on Highway 24 west of Prescott, will manufacture six foot wide vinyl sheets. The plant will be financed through bond elections under Act 9 of 1960 and Amendment 49, Davis said.

Statement Concerning Dimes Drive

The following statement was issued today by Mrs. Lura Impson, Campaign Director for the 1964 March of Dimes, in Hempstead County:

It is the philosophy of The National Foundation and of most people that voluntary organization is a good thing for the field of health, just as it has proven its value in other areas of endeavor in the democratic system.

The National Foundation cannot in good faith relinquish responsibility for its programs and policies to others who have no logical part in their development, yet who might very well exercise significant control of our budget and the budget of our chapters. Therefore, at a community-wide level, the March of Dimes does not participate in United Fund Drives.

Problems that threaten the health of an entire nation must be attacked by means that are flexible and national in scope. The National Foundation in its fight against Birth Defects and Arthritis must have the freedom to carry out the expert recommendations of the national group of respected Scientists serving on its advisory committees. Their recommendations, in effect, determine our program. Whatever money is required to finance that program then becomes the amount we attempt to raise during the March of Dimes annual January campaign.

United Funds were originally organized to meet the needs of local agencies. Administratively, each agency's budget must conform to the dictates of the local United Fund committee on budget. This means, in turn, that the size of each agency's program is determined by the United Fund.

It follows, then, that if we were to join United Funds, the National Foundation program, designed to meet a nationwide problem, would be subject to change at the whim of a thousand different committees. It is this unalterable fact that precludes the truly national agencies from becoming a part of Community Chests or United Funds. Such a partnership is unwelcome. It is time that men of good will on either side of the controversy agree to the fact and get on with the tasks they have set out to do.

Independent agencies and United Funds alike have as their goal the betterment of mankind. They should, in mankind's interest, let nothing impede them from their goal.

The March of Dimes, has never accepted any money from the United Fund Campaign, and feels that the United Fund is very misleading to the public when they list the March of Dimes in their budget.

Lucky Golf Tournament Play Opens

By DICK BARNES
Associated Press Sports Writer
SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—"We can hit the ball at the hole and it will stick," declared golfer Tony Lema today as the $50,000 Lucky International Tournament opened at the course he played as a youngster.

Tied for second in the San Diego Open and winner of the storm battered Bing Crosby event, the 29-year-old Lema aimed for back-to-back victories after already earning $12,100 playing golf this year.

He found Harding Park sloppy at tee and green after five days of rain but generally in good shape. Although posting only a three-over-par 74 in the pro-am prelude, Lema remained among the tournament favorites.

Most of golf's big names opened play in the Lucky as the weatherman forecast an end to the big Northern California storm.

Low pro in Wednesday's warmup was Bob Rosburg, now of Portland, Ore., but another who played Harding as a youngster. He posted a 68. At 69, indicating par would take a beating, were British Open champion Bob Charles, Fred Hawkins and Al Geiberger.

Rosburg collected $500 for his individual win and Arnold Palmer got $400 for his team effort.

County Wants a Probe of ASC

ASH FLAT, Ark. (AP)—The Sharp County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee said Wednesday it will ask the Agriculture Department to investigate ASC political affairs in the county and at the state level.

The committee has been at odds with the state ASC since last fall when it ordered Sharp County to elect community committeemen at polling places while the other 74 counties continued to vote by mail.

The community committeemen select the county committee, which administers Agriculture Department programs.

The county group wanted an investigation of three things: The state committee's action in sending a state man to each polling place in the Jan. 7 election to check on the conduct of the election;

Alleged political maneuvering in the county and charges that the county group has mistreated some farmers.

NEW YORK (AP)—Doctors at Memorial Hospital have told actor Van Johnson there is no recurrence of the cancer for which he underwent surgery 10 months ago.

Johnson, who had a skin cancer removed from his thigh in the earlier operation, underwent an exploratory operation on a lymph gland in the thigh last Thursday.

Nominees Fail to Get Enough Votes

BOSTON (AP)—The door of that handsome, red brick Colonial building at Cooperstown, N.Y.—baseball's Hall of Fame—still was open today.

And shortstop Luke Appling and pitcher Charley (Red) Ruffing will lead 30 former big leaguers in an unprecedented second knock.

Balloting by baseball writers announced Wednesday showed none of the 59 old-time players nominated received the necessary 75 per cent of the votes cast.

Appling, who played 20 seasons for the Chicago White Sox between 1930 and 1950, received 142 votes, nine short of the 151 needed.

Ruffing, who won 20 games or more four straight years while with the New York Yankees, polled 141.

But they and 28 others will get another chance.

The Baseball Writers Association of America instituted a change in 1962, the last time the biennial voting was conducted, authorizing a second ballot in the event no candidate received the needed three-quarters vote.

A second ballot was not needed two years ago because Bob Feller and Jackie Robinson were elected to Cooperstown on the first ballot.

Feller and Robinson are the only two former players to have been enshrined since Joe Cronin and Hank Greenberg made it in 1956.

Hy Hurwitz, secretary of the BBWAA, said ballots were being mailed to voting members today. The writers will vote for no more than five players from among Wednesday's 30 top vote-getters. Hurwitz set a Feb. 5 deadline for the return of the ballots.

Unless there's a tie, only one player from the 30 now eligible will be admitted to the Hall of Fame.

Others among the 30 include Roy Campanella, Ducky Med-claim to Sabah, the former territory of British North Borneo. Kennedy said Sukarno, Macapagal and Rahman all had agreed they were ready for new talks without preconditions. But he said all three also had agreed that new three-power talks were likely to fail unless a cease-fire was implemented.

One precondition that was dropped was Rahman's demand that Indonesia and the Philippines recognize his country. Kennedy said all three leaders had agreed not to let this point interfere with a conference, and Subandrio said it would be the chief question for summit discussion.

Faubus Ponders Course to Take

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Gov. Orval E. Faubus took steps Wednesday to determine a course of action if the poll tax is outlawed.

The South Dakota Legislature was expected to pass today the proposed 24th Amendment to the U.S. Constitution, banning the poll tax in federal elections. Arkansas is one of five remaining states using the poll tax.

Faubus talked with William J. Smith, his legal advisor, and Reps. Paul Van Dalsem of Perry County, L. H. Autry of Mississippi County, Doris McCastlain of Monroe County and John E. Miller of Izard County.

The governor must decide whether to call a special legislative session to enact a voter registration bill or to let Arkansas hold its Democratic primary under a legal cloud this summer.

Faubus said he favored a liberal registration bill which would make it easy for anyone to register and vote.

He said party loyalty, a requirement that the registrant

Regional Air Port Study May Spread

By BILL SIMMONS
Associated Press Writer

The proposal to study the feasibility of a regional airport for Central Arkansas has sparked interest in similar projects for other parts of the state, Arkansas State Chamber of Commerce, President Wayne A. Stone said today.

Stone, of Pine Bluff, said a committee to study the possibilities of a regional airport for Northwest Arkansas has been formed. Stone said, he has been contacted from all parts of the state about similar studies.

"We will assist in any way possible to make feasibility studies," Stone said. "It is possible that other committees will be appointed to make studies in other sections of the state."

The Central Arkansas proposal, originally made by Stone, suggested that the airport serve Hot Springs, Pine Bluff, and the Little Rock-North Little Rock area, principally, but surrounding areas as well.

The proposed Northwest Arkansas airport would serve Benton, Carroll, Madison and Washington counties and surrounding areas.

The Central Arkansas study group is well under way. The Northwest group plans its first meeting Jan. 31, probably at Fayetteville.

M. H. (Bill) Simmons of Sloan Springs, general manager of Plus Poultry Co., is chairman of the Northwest committee. Other members are Hal C. Douglas of Fayetteville; Cass Hough, president of Daisy Manufacturing Co. of Rogers; Courtney C. Crouch of Springdale; Lloyd E. Peterson of Peterson Breeding Farm, Inc., at Decatur; and William H. Enfield of Bentonville.

Simmons said the airport could serve Northwest Arkansas, Northeast Oklahoma and Southwest Missouri.

The possibility of jet traffic will be considered, he said, but this facet of the air age probably lies some distance in the future in respect to the proposed regional airport, he said.

The reaction to the proposal in Northwest Arkansas has been "highly favorable, at least what I've encountered," Simmons said.

He said the committee probably could make some recommendation regarding the proposal within 90 days.

There are eight airports in the four counties to be primarily served by the regional port, but only Fayetteville has airline service. Central Airlines goes in to Fayetteville, also into Harrison, and into Fort Smith 61 miles south of Fayetteville.

Fort Smith also is served by Braniff Airways. The Sebastian County city is the closest any of the major airlines come to the four counties.

The airports at Fayetteville, Rogers and Springdale have hard-surfaced runways. The Fayetteville airport is equipped for night and all-weather flying, but the safe-flying minimums are high because of the surrounding Ozark Mountains.

Picking Jury to Try Hoffa Continues

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP)—Spurred on by a federal judge, government and defense attorneys sought for the fourth straight day today to select a jury for James R. Hoffa's trial on a charge of tampering with a jury.

U.S. Dist. Judge Frank Wilson made it clear he wants to wind up the jury selection by nightfall Friday.

Hoffa, Teamsters Union president, and five others are accused of trying to influence jurors in his 1962 conspiracy trial at Nashville. That case ended in a mistrial with the jury deadlocked.

Wilson took over questioning of prospective jurors over vigorous defense protests — Wednesday in an attempt to speed the proceedings. When court adjourned for the day, he commented: "We've now gone three days and not a juror has been selected."

At that point, 10 men and a woman had been qualified by the judge subject to challenges for no specific cause. The defense had 10 such challenges left and the government four.

Defendants besides Hoffa are Thomas Ewing Parks, Nashville; Nicholas J. Tweel, Huntington, W. Va.; Larry Campbell, Detroit; Allen Dorfman, Chicago; and Ewing King, Nashville.

President Abraham Lincoln was made an honorary citizen of the country of San Marino.

state whether he is a Democrat, Republican or independent, is sure to stir debate.

That Sign Is Probably Right

WASHINGTON (AP)—On the fourth floor of the old House office building is a huge stack of congressional records, the daily account of what senators and representatives say and do.

The stack is topped by a hand lettered sign.

Charges Drug Statements Misleading

WASHINGTON (AP)—A federal grand jury charged today that fraudulent and misleading statements were used in national advertising of Regimen tablets, a reducing drug.

The Justice Department described the tablets as practically worthless.

A 58-count indictment was returned against Drug Research Corp., which produces the tablets—several individuals and a firm which tests drug products.

They were charged with using the mails and television to defraud, conspiring to defraud, and shipping misbranded drugs in interstate commerce.

The defendants named in the suit in addition to Drug Research Corp. are:

New Drug Institute, which tests drug products; John Andreadis, also known as John Andre, president and chief stockholder of Drug Research Corp.; Saul Miklean, chief chemist for Andreadis; Arthur D. Herrick, president and sole stockholder of New Drug Institute; and Kastor, Hilton, Chesley, Clifford and Atherton, Inc., and advertising agency. All the defendants are from New York City.

Deputy Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach said the indictment followed an investigation by the Food and Drug Administration, the Post Office Department and the U.S. attorney's office in Brooklyn.

Burns Fatal to Little Rock Child

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Connie Sue Smith, 4, died Wednesday in a Little Rock hospital of burns suffered last Saturday when her clothing caught fire from burning trash at her home.

She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John David Smith.

The Endless Circle Spin Continues

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—The endless circle spins again. President Johnson has made disarmament proposals based on the hope the Soviet Union has changed its mind. But there's no reason to believe it has.

Johnson suggested Tuesday in a message to the 18-nation disarmament conference which opened in Geneva—several moves for controlling nuclear weapons and cutting down their production.

There would have to be an inspection system to prevent cheating. This is what the United States has always insisted upon, before there could be an agreement. But the Soviet Union has always opposed an inspection system.

Last week Johnson said, "we shall make new proposals" to the conference. Later he was quoted in a White House statement as saying "as the United States enters these negotiations we harbor no illusions of easy success."

His proposals Tuesday were not basically new. Even his opening sentence had a familiar sound, the kind of thing the United States and the Soviet Union have been saying for years:

"There is only one item on the agenda of this conference—it is the leading item on the agenda—and that one item is peace."

The Soviet Union said several years ago in a memorandum on disarmament: "There is no task more vital and urgent today than the task of preserving peace."

The White House had hardly announced Johnson's proposals before senators were urging caution, warning there could be no agreement without inspection.

Any hope of a Soviet switch on inspection seems based on this: Maybe they think it's time for a second look because (1) their economy is in a downturn and less money spent on armaments would help and (2) their split with Red China may make them want better relations with the West.

This past year there have been some steps towards better relations, as Johnson mentioned: an agreement banning nuclear tests except underground; a direct line between Moscow and Washington to be used in a crisis to prevent misunderstandings; and a unanimous United Nations vote last October against nuclear-armed space satellites to halt the arms race upstairs.

But even if the Soviet Union switched on inspection, this awfully unpleasant question remains: what good would a disarmament agreement be unless Red China was a party to it?

It's hard to believe the U.S. Senate would ever approve a disarmament agreement which did not include Red China. But Red China is not taking part in the 18-nation conference. And, to complicate matters, this country refuses to recognize the Communist Chinese as the lawful masters of China.

The Red Chinese, in turn, have said they would not be bound by any disarmament treaty unless they took part in it and, in addition, they said they would not take part unless the United States recognized them.

The fallacy in a disarmament agreement without Red China was explained by the late President John F. Kennedy at a news conference Feb. 14 1962:

"There is no use having an inspection system agreed upon between . . . the United States and the Soviet Union and some other countries and then have another country, large, carrying on intensive armaments preparations. Quite obviously that would not protect our security."

"So this problem of bringing that in is a problem that must be considered before we would be able to have confidence in any disarmament agreement."

Red China is not even a member of the United Nations. The United States has managed so far to keep it out. But the American ally, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist China on Formosa, is a U.N. member.

Chiang claims to be boss of all China, although the Reds drove him off the mainland and have kept him off. So, in addition to all the problems just mentioned, there's this:

How, for the sake of universal disarmament, could the United States recognize Red China without abandoning Chiang or at least in effect agreeing that the Red Chinese and not Chiang

Governor Won't Halt Execution

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Gov. Orval E. Faubus decided Wednesday not to interfere with the execution of rapist Charles Franklin Fields, who is scheduled to die in the electric chair Friday morning.

His decision came after a personal appeal from Fields' mother, Mrs. Effie Byrd of Little Rock.

Fields, 32, was serving a life term in Tucker State Prison Farm for rape in Marion County when he escaped Jan. 15, 1962.

During 90 minutes of freedom he attacked another woman and is accused of shooting fatally C. A. Mencer, a Desha County farmer, near Altheimer.

Fields has not been tried on the murder charge, but could be if the death sentence is commuted.

Thinks Lot of Negroes Not Bad

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. E. C. Gathings, D-Ark., prepared a statement for the House Rules Committee today to show that the lot of the Southern Negro isn't as bad as it is sometimes painted and declaring that the fair employment practices of the proposed civil rights bill is "bad, unconstitutional and unprecedented."

Gathings, the only Arkansas Congressman to testify before the committee as it considers the bill, described the "separate but equal" Eliza Miller and Central High Schools in Helena-West Helena.

The report said that with whites accounting for 42.2 per cent of the population of Phillips County and Negroes 57.8 per cent, the county's per capita income rose from $257 in 1939 to $1,174 in 1962.

"The Negro in the South is a happy person," the statement said. "He enjoys the life he lives. He understands the members of the white race and they understand him."

Rep. James W. Trimble, a member of the House Rules Committee, has not revealed his position on the bill.

were the boss of China? For all these reasons the disarmament circle seems due to keep spinning quite a while.

The DeAnn Lilac Garden Club will meet Thursday, January 23 at 2 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Ronnie Burke with Mrs. Irvin Burke as co-hostess. Each member is asked to bring a side triangle arrangement using artificial flowers.

The Spring Hill P.T.A. will meet Thursday night at 7:30 at the school. All teachers and parents are urged to attend.

Friday, January 24

The Friday Music Club will meet at 4 p.m. Friday, January 24 in the home of Mrs. McDowell Turner with Mrs. James McLarty, co-hostess.

Monday, January 27

The Hope Community Theater will meet Monday, January 27 at 7:30 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Don Evans, 415 S. Greening. Anyone interested in the theater is invited.

The Ann Wollerman Circle of

The First Baptist Church will meet Monday Night, January 27th, at 7:30, at the Church for the Royal Service Program. All members urged to be present.

Rocky Mound HD Club Meets

The Rocky Mound Home Demonstration Club met in the home of Mrs. Norman Taylor Thursday, January 16.

The president, Mrs. Ivan Bright presided. Song of the month "Onward Christian Soldiers" was sung led by Mrs. Clifford Messer.

The devotion was given by the hostess followed by repeating the Lord's Prayer in unison. Mrs. Bright presented the lesson, "Keys to Home Demonstration Work". The roll call was answered by 10 members and 1 guest, Mrs. Carl Ward, giving a house hold hint.

A Ghost question quiz was given by Mrs. Bright and C. Roberts. Leaders for the year were chosen and decided to use the church as their project again as they have already started a building fund.

Other leaders gave some good ideas and the vice president, read a very interesting poem. The meeting was closed by giving the club creed, to meet in February with Mrs. Clifford Messer.

The hostess served ice cream strawberry cake and nuts, coffee, and col drinks.

PEO Holds Informal Coffee for Visitors

Chapter AE, P.E.O. entertained Mrs. Haridas Mazumdar of Baroda, India, and Pine Bluff with an informal coffee Tuesday afternoon, January 21 in the home of the chapter president, Mrs. Herbert Stephens.

The guest of honor, who had been an International Peace Scholarship winner and attended Columbia University in 1957-59, told the group about herself, her native land, and their customs. She graciously answered all questions put to her, and the result was a most enjoyable and enlightening afternoon.

From a dining table overlaid with a white cutwork cloth and centered with grapes and purple pencil tapers, a tasty assortment of snacks were served to 20. Mrs. Roy Bagley poured at the silver coffee service.

Brookwood P.T.A. Meets

A large group of parents and teachers in the Brookwood auditorium last Wed. to hear Mr. L. F. Slotton speak on the "Ungraded Primary."

In the business meeting, prior to the talk by Mr. Slotton, Mrs. Minor Polk presided in the absence of the Pres. Mrs. Schenck who announced that the P.T.A. Founders' Day Program at High School in Feb. will take the place of Brookwood's Feb. meeting.

Mrs. W. O. Beene brought a devotional which was very appropriate for the new year and was taken from Philippians.

The National P.T.A. President's message, "History teaches us Unforgettable Lessons" was brought by Mrs. Jim James.

Mrs. Medders first grade won the room count in the lower grades and Mrs. Downs and Mrs. Andrews rooms tied for the upper three grades.

Dorcas S.S. Class Meets

The Dorcas Sunday School Class of Garrett Memorial Church met in the home of Mrs. Willie Beard on Thursday Night. Mrs. Don Webb, President, conducted business session, at which time committees were discussed and secret pals selected.

The devotion was led by Gwen Prith. She read Judges 1: 10-15 the theme being "It's Time to Move." Members present participated in this devotional.

The hostess served a dessert plate to the 6 members present. The February meeting will be in the home of Mrs. James Laughard.

Births

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Rothwell of Garland, Tex., formerly of Hope, are the parents of their first child. It is a little girl for the Rothwells, and she was born at 8:30 p.m. Tuesday, January 21. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ellis of Hope and Mr. and Mrs. Hanson Rothwell, former residents of Hope and now living in Oklahoma.

Petition Filed to Stop Execution

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A petition has been filed in Federal District Court in Little Rock to stop the execution of William L. Maxwell, 24, a Negro of Hot Springs, sentenced to die in the electric chair Friday for the rape of a white woman.

Maxwell was convicted March 21, 1962 in circuit court in Garland County. His execution is scheduled at Tucker prison farm.

The petition, filed by Negro attorney George Howard of Pine Bluff, contends Negroes were systematically excluded from the jury panel from which an all white jury was chosen to hear the case.

The case was appealed to the state Supreme Court May 27, 1963, and the conviction was upheld. It has not been appealed to a higher court.

A white man, Charles Franklin Fields, 32, is also scheduled to die Friday. He was convicted of rape during an escape from the prison farm.

Mother and Daughter Found Slain

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Martin, 43, chosen as Oakland's 1963 Mother of the Year, and her 18-year-old daughter were found dead in their fashionable 12-room home Wednesday night, the apparent victims of a sex slayer.

Police Lt. James Bratton said it appeared that both women had been strangled and sexually assaulted.

Mrs. Martin and her daughter, Carolyn, were found lying face down, side-by-side on the floor, bound in a bizarre manner.

Another daughter, Susan, 17, discovered the bodies when she returned home from school.

Bratton said an electric light cord was looped around Mrs. Bratton's big toe and up around her neck so that one foot was in the air.

Carolyn was bound in a similar manner, with her right foot in the air, with a nylon stocking. Both women's hands were tied behind their backs.

Lt. Bratton said there was no sign of forced entry into the home.

Mrs. Martin wife of Dr. Frank H. Martin, an osteopath, was chosen Oakland's mother of the year by the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Her husband was at his office when the bodies were discovered, police said.

Wants Ruling Reconsidered

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Port Smith attorney Charles R. Garner said Wednesday he would ask the state Supreme Court to reconsider its order that state constitutional officers must account for public relations expenses allowances.

The court ruled Monday that the officials are entitled to $1,800 each in allowances, but can no longer receive them in monthly $150 checks.

Garner represented William M. Berry of Stuttgart in a taxpayer suit leading to the ruling. He said he did not understand how the ruling could void one section only of a state law without holding the entire act invalid.

Little Rock, were overnight guests of Mr. and Mrs. Owen Atkins Tuesday and attended the R. V. Herndon funeral Wednesday.

Steve, Joe, and John Crain, U of A students, are spending the mid-term holidays in Hope with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Crain.

Mrs. Foy Hammons and Miss Troy Hammons spent the weekend in Richardson, Tex., with the R. H. Herd family.

Miss Kay Leimbacher and her mother, Mrs. Earl Leimbacher, of Joliet, Ill., are visiting Mrs. Freeda Greenan. On Wednesday they all spent the day in Dallas.

Mrs. Corbin Foster has returned home from Wyandotte, Michigan after attending the funeral of her sister, Mrs. Amilee Haas. For the trip she was joined in Oklahoma City by her brothers.

David Ray Peyton and family left today for California where they will make their home. David is the son of Mrs. J. I. Peyton of Hope.

Life of a Concert Pianist Is Not an Easy One and Men Outnumber Women 10 to 1

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—A top concert pianist gets from $500 to $6,000 an appearance.

There are perhaps some 25 of these keyboard artists in the nation. One of the best is John Browning, 30, a slender and handsome bachelor, who started picking out tunes at the age of 3 and started taking lessons at 5.

He made his first debut at 10, but didn't become a professional in public until he had reached the ripe age of 20.

"Both my parents are musicians, and they didn't want to rush me too fast," Browning explained. "The child prodigy bit can be dangerous."

"The public sometimes gets tired of hearing him, and decides he doesn't sound so impressive after he grows up. Also, the artist himself can get bored if he starts too soon. By 50 he's tired of the business," he said.

Browning, who comes from Denver, Colo., and Los Angeles, became an international musical figure in 1956 when he won the gold medal award in Brussels. Since then he has performed with most of the great orchestras here and in Europe.

"It's a highly competitive field," he said. "This seems to be an age of pianists, and talent at present seems to come mostly from the United States and Russia, rather than Western Europe."

Men outnumber women about 10-1. Women either get married or weary of a concert artist's life. It can be rough."

The chief ordeal is the constant travel.

"Another problem is the shortage of porters at rail terminals," he said. "If I have to carry my own luggage — it weighs about 60 pounds — it pulls my arm muscles the wrong way, and I'm afraid it could affect my performance."

Browning now solves this by wiring ahead for a messenger to meet him at the station.

Other woes of the concert artist's life: Poor acoustics, bad pianos, the social receptions that inevitably follow a concert, "and, above all, the constant need of keeping up your standard, to keep yourself up to play your best no matter how you feel physically."

He spends anywhere from up to 14 hours a day at the piano, has committed to memory 30 concertos and more than 10 hours of solo music. This means he could play about 40 hours continuously without repeating a work.

Browning would seem a highly eligible Leap Year candidate for marriage, but says he is kept so busy that he hasn't yet been able to find the right girl.

Color television, in a crude state, was demonstrated as early as 1930, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

Panama Airlift Is Completed

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP)—An airlift of American dependents from Panama ended Monday with the arrival of 14 evacuees, raising to 1,093 the number of persons brought here since last Wednesday.

The Air Force said 29 other dependents are due here today aboard a commercial airliner. About 150 dependents were to leave Panama today aboard the troopship Upsur, probably for Brooklyn, N.Y., and 40 others are to go to New Orleans aboard the troopship Cristobal.

Dunway Quits Race Commission

CONWAY, Ark. (AP)—Dr. Edwin L. Dunaway, 57, of Conway, said Wednesday he had resigned from the state Racing Commission because it took too much time.

Gov. Orval E. Faubus said Wednesday no successor had been named.

The commission controls horse racing at Oaklawn Park in Hot Springs and dog racing at the Southland Greyhound Track at West Memphis.

Dunaway served for 12 years. He was chairman when he resigned.

What They Didn't Do Proved Costly

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Two youths were sentenced to a year in jail as a result of something they didn't do: Dispose of a pair of fancy shoes with buttons. "I'd know those shoes anywhere," testified Samuel J. Greenstein, owner of a department store from which 42 pairs of pants, 55 sports shirts and one pair of shoes were stolen. "I've been trying to sell them for 10 years."

Kin Appeals Order in Folks Case

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Two nieces of the late Fred Folks of Clay County appealed to the Arkansas Supreme Court today from an order dismissing their suit claiming that Folks gave them $16,418 in cash and securities which he kept in a lock box at the bank of Rector.

The nieces, Ernestine Mohr and Mary Elliott, filed suit against Charles Hampton, administrator of the Folks estate, and Chelsene Lohrenz of Elgin, Ill., Folks' daughter and only surviving heir.

The nieces said that Folks gave each of them a key to the lock box before his death and told them they could divide its contents.

When it was opened after his death, it was found to contain $10,493 in cash, a $2,500 postal savings certificate and $3,425 in government bonds.

Chancellor Terry Shell dismissed the suit, which had the effect of ruling that giving the keys to the nieces did not constitute giving them the contents of the lock boxes.

Greenstein, owner of a department store from which 42 pairs of pants, 55 sports shirts and one pair of shoes were stolen. "I've been trying to sell them for 10 years."

Eddie McQueen and Bernard Camon, both 17, were found guilty Wednesday of the burglary.

Two Saratoga Teams Win in County Meet

In Hempstead County Basketball tournament play at Guernsey last night two Saratoga teams posted wins over the host teams.

The Saratoga Senior Girls had a 38 to 24 win, Archer made 16 points for Guernsey.

Saratoga's Senior boys licked Guernsey 61 to 54 with Sanders 19 points, Porter and Hughes 14 each. For Guernsey Tullis, Norvell and Ravenscraft had 14 each.

Play starts at 7 o'clock tonight with the Hope Junior boys taking on the highly regarded Blewins team and the Hope Senior girls going against Saratoga.

Finley and Cronin Meet in New York

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Charles O. Finley isn't talking. And that is the big news in baseball circles.

The surprise development came Wednesday when Finley, embattled owner of the Kansas City Athletics, and American League President Joe Cronin were found registered in the same New York hotel. If they met, it was a deep, dark secret.

Finley made himself available briefly and had only two words to say:

"No comment."

That was two words more than anyone could get out of Cronin.

His hotel phone didn't answer. And a search of the hotel failed to reveal any traces of the stocky AL prexy.

In Boston, a league spokesman was more informative. He said Cronin was in New York to talk over legal matters. He didn't say with whom. He did say it wasn't with Finley.

In Kansas City, meanwhile, it was learned that Finley hadn't been doing any talking to city officials either. Under a league ruling, Finley was denied permission to move the A's to Louisville and has until Feb. 1 to negotiate a lease with the city or face possible expulsion from the American League.

Despite all that uncertainty, the A's home office managed to conduct some business. They are working on the 1964 roster, and signed pitcher Diego Segui and infielder George Williams. They were the first A's signed.

Presumably, they signed Kansas City contracts.

Tuttle Leads Bowling Meet at Dallas

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Tommy Tuttle of Rural Hall, N.C., took a commanding lead in the first day of finals at the $100,000 All-Star Bowling Tournament Wednesday night.

The personable newcomer won 12 and lost four games while knocking down 3,651 pins in the opening four rounds. He received a 600-pin bonus, 59 for each game he won, to boost his position to 4,231.

Tuttle's best performance of the day came in the third round when he walloped a 258-256-181-235 — 930 series to defeat Don Ellis of Houston, Tex., in three games.

Luke Barlow of Hobbs, N.M., was in second place as the tournament moved into the fifth round with a total of 3,943 pins, a reflection of his record of 12 won and four lost and his total pin fall of 3,343.

Barlow moved from third place into the runner-up spot after winning three of his four games with Dick Weber, the defending champion from St. Louis.

Weber, who was in second place going into the round, dropped to fifth place.

Norma Lake of Dallas and Laverne Carter of St. Louis were deducted for the round after four rounds with identical grand totals of 1,871.

Johnson Gift Brings Up Coat Affair

By CORNELIUS F. HURLEY

BOSTON (AP)—The gift of a $500-stereo set to then Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson reminds New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of the vicuna coat presents given top figures of the Eisenhower administration.

"I remember a gentleman," Rockefeller said Wednesday in a news conference, "who worked in the White House and who received a vicuna coat."

He was bitterly criticized and censured for that. The American people don't like to see their officials taking favors."

Rockefeller obviously referred to Sherman Adams, former governor of New Hampshire and assistant to President Eisenhower, who resigned from the White House staff after disclosure of the gift from Bernard Rockefeller was in Boston to attend a Dartmouth College alumni meeting. His remarks at the alumni meeting were confined to college affairs.

Army Cadets Best Team in 20 Years

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Army probably isn't in the class of UCLA and Michigan, the top-ranked teams in The Associated Press poll, but the Cadets have come up with their best basketball team in 20 years.

Not since a 27-game winning streak two decades ago have the Cadets looked ahead with such confidence to their traditional game with Navy, Feb. 29.

The Black Knights scored their 10th victory in 12 games Wednesday by outlasting Hofstra 64-59 at West Point.

Hofstra earlier had defeated Navy and went into the Army game with a nine-game winning streak, but the Flying Dutchmen couldn't overcome the Cadets despite Steve Nisen's 34 points.

One of Nisen's baskets tied the score at 57-57, but Army went ahead to stay on goals by Joe Kosciuszko of Grafton, Mass., and Bill Heikie of South Bend, Ind.

There were only a few other major games on the schedule as mid-year exams continued to keep college activity to a minimum.

Seventh-ranked Villanova, the only team in the Top Ten to see action, romped against West Chester, Pa. State, 78-61.

Jim Stone and John Thompson combined for 52 points as Providence staged off a late Canisius rally to beat the Grifins 77-74. In other games Virginia Tech nipped East Carolina 72-68 and Pitt downed Kent State 84-63.

All Sports Represented in Fame Hall

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Name a sport.

Football? Baseball? Basketball? Track? Shooting?

They'll all be represented to night when the sixth annual Arkansas Sports Hall of Fame banquet honors five Arkansas athletic greats.

In baseball it is 41-year-old George Kell, a snappy-gloved third sacker for 14 seasons in the major leagues.

Basketball? What name could be more familiar in Arkansas than that of Glen Rose, the no-nonsense coach who guided the University of Arkansas to a championship or a tie for the title in seven Southwest Conference races, and made his mark as a player, too.

Football? The late Dan Estes, a speedy, hard-hitting 200-pound lineman who took off like buckshot for the Razorbacks.

Track? One of the all-time great success stories in track and field centers on this man—Bill Carr of Pine Bluff, who stunned the world of the starting blocks with conquests of Stanford's "Blazing Ben" Eastman in the Olympics.

Shooting? The late Julius Petty, whose incredible accuracy with a shotgun powdered more than 300 clay pigeons consecutively eight times and helped make him an eight-time All-American shooter.

Joe Garagiola, former big league catcher and now the toast of the banquet circuit, will make his sixth appearance as toastmaster of the event.

The induction tonight will swell the ranks of the Hall to 30 members, including such greats as Bill Dickey, Jim Lee Howell, Don Hutson, Jim Benton, Schoolboy Rowe, Clyde Scott, E. J. (Dutch) Harrison and Lon Warneke.

Hope Star SPORTS

Hornung Says He Misses Football

By CARL C. CRAFT
Associated Press Writer

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Although other business interests have kept him active, Paul Hornung said today, "I've missed football very, very much."

Awaiting a review of his National Football League suspension case next month, Hornung said he is hopeful the indefinite ban on his playing will be lifted.

Hornung, a Green Bay Packers' star before he was suspended April 17, 1963, for betting, said his fall from grace was especially long and painful — not merely because he had been at the top but because "I made the terrible mistake" which caused the fall.

Hornung said he was grateful to the NFL Players Association for urging that the suspension be lifted.

League Commissioner Pete Rozelle placed Hornung and Alex Karras, of Detroit, on an indefinite suspension, saying their conduct and attitude "will have a bearing on the matter if I choose to consider lifting the suspensions after the 1963 season."

"This has been my first time away from the sport in 17 years," said Hornung, "and I'm itching to get back in the league and to start practice at Green Bay."

Athletes in Tribute to Skrzypeski

By HANS BENEDICT
Associated Press Sports Writer

INNSBRUCK, Austria (AP)—A black mourning ribbon flapped from the five-ringed Olympic flag today as skiers, skaters and sledgers resumed practice sessions in a suddenly somber atmosphere created by the accident that claimed the life of a British tobogganer.

Kazimierz Kay-Skrzypeski, 50-year-old British Olympian, died Wednesday of injuries received 24 hours earlier when his sled careened off the chute at near-by Igls in a practice run for the event which will be held for the first time at these winter games.

Athletes and officials paid tribute to Kay-Skrzypeski Wednesday night in an open-air ceremony at which Prof. Friedl Wolfgang, head of the Austrian Organizing Committee, said:

"This is a tragedy, all the more as tobogganing was included in the Winter Olympics for the very first time. We were trying to make it as successful as the other competitions, and then this terrible thing happens."

Kay-Skrzypeski, a Polish-born British citizen who fled from Nazi-occupied Poland in 1940, was the second fatality in the last two Olympics.

At the 1960 Summer Games in Rome, cyclist Knud Enemark Jensen of Denmark died after competing in a 100-kilometer—62½ mile—road race. Officials at the Rome Olympics announced after the Games that 2,236 injuries had been tabulated during the competition.

Besides Kay-Skrzypeski, three other tobogganers have been injured. Two Germans—Josef Lenz and Josef Fleischmann—were injured here Tuesday, and Elizabeth Gould of Rydal, Pa., a member of the U.S. team, suffered multiple fractures while practicing in Poland in December.

The injuries here caused this order to be issued: "Please take it easy. It is better to reach the end of the run in a slow time than to finish up in a hospital."

It was issued after Kay-Skrzypeski suffered multiple fractures when his sled raced out of control at high speed on the Olympic Curve during a trial run.

No Regrets, Golfer Ben Hogan Vows

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—"I have no regrets," Ben Hogan said. "A man has to quit some time. I've never been sorry I stopped when I did."

The mushrooming $100,000-plus purses and the pressure of bigtime golf, intensified by the heavyweight duel between Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus, no longer hold a lure for the tough little master from Fort Worth, Tex.

"If I could get some semblance of a putting stroke I would play in more tournaments, just for the pleasure of it," added Hogan, who was presented the Gold Tee Award Wednesday night by the Metropolitan Golf Writers Association. "But I'm not eager to win any more championships, just for championships' sake."

Hogan insisted he never was haunted by the thought that he might have won an unprecedented fifth National Open championship, passing Willie Anderson and Bob Jones, had he not cut short his competitive career in 1955.

"If I had kept playing, I might have won another Open, and again I might not," he said. "As far back as 1953, my best year, I could tell I was beginning to lose my nerve in putting."

"That convinced me it was time to call it quits. I got to a

Perry's Team Wins Over Air Base

Perry's Truck Stop Independent basketball team defeated an independent team from Texarkana Air Base last night 68 to 47.

Brint Odom scored 22, David Brown 18 and Wayne Loe 11 for the winners.

Cale Teams Advance in Bodcaw Meet

In the Nevada County tournament at Bodcaw Wednesday night the Cale Junior Girls downed Laneburg 26 to 24 in a close one. Wicker had 12 for Cale and Baker 12 for Laneburg.

Willisville's Junior Boys defeated Bodcaw 39 to 44. Marlar had 20 points for Willisville and Matherly made 21 for Bodcaw.

Cale Senior Girls didn't have much trouble downing Prescott 44 to 35. Cale's Simpson tossed in 33 points. Abbot made 21 for Prescott. Play starts at 6:30 tonight with three games on tap.

Assumption and Grambling Tops

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Grambling and Assumption, unbeaten and with 26 victories between them, moved up in The Associated Press' small-college basketball poll today.

The Tigers from Grambling, La., replaced Evansville in first place, collecting four votes for the top position and 75 points in the balloting by a special panel of eight regional selectors.

Grambling has won 16 in a row. Evansville, 10-2, fell to second with three first-place votes and 65 points. Assumption of Worcester, Mass., an also-ran last week, advanced to eighth place. The Greyhounds have won 10 in succession.

Kentucky Wesleyan climbed from seventh to third with 41 points. Washington of St. Louis is fourth with 31 points followed by Hofstra 30, Wittenberg 27 and Western Carolina 26.

Points were awarded of 10 for a first place vote, 9 for second etc.

point I couldn't even bring the club back on the putting green."

Hogan announced his retirement after losing a playoff to Jack Fleck in the 1955 Open at San Francisco, saying at the time:

"I'll never work this hard again to win a tournament."

At that time, Ben had won four U.S. Opens, two Masters plus the British Open and the PGA. His 72-hole records in the Open and Masters still stand.

At 51, Hogan looks as lean and hard as in his best playing days but he insists he is plagued by the bugaboo of all aging golf champions—the putting yips.

Changes in Filing 1963 Tax Return

EDITOR'S NOTE—There are some important changes in the method for filing your tax return on 1963 income. Here, in the first of five special articles, is a rundown of changes and a report on other principal points you should keep in mind.

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Writer

Main points in filing your tax return on 1963 income: Deadline—midnight, April 15.

Income—Report only the taxable kind; not the non-taxable, like Social Security payments.

Dividends and Interest—Something new has been added.

Since Jan. 1, 1963 organizations paying you interest or dividends of $10 or more have had to inform the Internal Revenue Service. So be sure to report yours.

Social Security Number—List yours on your return. There's a $5 penalty for failing to do so.

W-2 Withholding Statements—These receipts for tax withheld from your 1963 pay must be enclosed with your return.

Return Forms—Generally the choice is between form 1040 and 1040A. Anyone can use 1040. But only people with less than $10,000 income can use 1040A. And then only if, in that income, there is not more than $200 in dividends or interest and wages from which tax was not withheld.

Refunds—If too much tax was withheld from your income in 1963, you can get a refund but only by filing a return.

Something new has been added here. Now you can ask for your refund in U.S. Savings Bonds. Or as in the past you can get it in cash or have it credited to your estimated tax on 1964 income.

Who must file a return? You must, whether or not you owe tax, if:

1. You were under 65—this includes children—and had income of $600 or more.

2. You were 65 or over before Jan. 1, 1964 and had income of $1,200 or more.

If you were self-employed you must file a return and pay a Social Security tax of 5.4 percent on your net income from $400 to $4,800. The net is what's left after deducting business expenses.

Note: This self-employment tax is in addition to the regular income tax you pay, like everyone else.

Even if you're 65 or older, but are self-employed, you must pay the 5.4 per cent Social Security tax on your $400-to-$4,800 income although you may be receiving Social Security payments.

Since there are limits on how much income a person over 65 can earn and still draw Social Security payments, be sure you understand them.

There are two big helps in making out your return—the instruction sheet and the booklet:

1. IRS sends every taxpayer an instruction sheet with the tax-rates, tax-tables, and answers to questions.

2. For more detailed information than you find in this series or the instruction sheet, get "Your Federal Income Tax" from the nearest IRS office. It's a 144-page booklet, costs 40 cents, and is very good.

Deductions—Claim all you can to reduce your income before what's left is taxable. Examples: State income taxes, house mortgage interest, state gasoline taxes, charitable contributions.

Everyone, without the need to itemize his deductions or prove he had them, gets a standard deduction of 10 per cent of his income up to a limit of $1,000 for non-business expenses. Example: Charitable contributions medical bills, interest on the house mortgage.

If your expenses were higher than the standard allows for, then itemize them and claim them in full.

Note this: When married couples file separate returns each is allowed a standard deduction of no more than $500 each.

Some examples of taxable income which must be reported: Wages, salaries, tips, bonuses, commissions, rents, profits from a business, profession or farm; interest on savings accounts, stock dividends, dividends (which are really interest) from savings and loan association, profits from the sale or exchange of property, gambling winnings, severance pay, generally strike benefits paid by unions, income from estates and trusts, prizes for which you did something to win.

Some examples of non-taxable income which doesn't have to be reported:

Federal Social Security benefits; veterans benefits from the Veterans Administration to veterans and their families; interest on state and municipal bonds, subsistence and rental allowance to members of the armed forces, public assistance payments to the blind, gifts in money or anything of value for

Citde in Filing a False Report

CINCINNATI (AP) — Billie Perkins has been charged with filing a false police report—all because he did not want to lose face before his troop of Boy Scouts.

Perkins, 23, teaches gun safety to a group of scouts. He accidentally shot himself in the foot with a .25 caliber pistol.

Police said Perkins first told them he found someone looting in his apartment and was wounded while trying to take his pistol from the intruder. Later he admitted it wasn't so. "I was just too embarrassed," he said. He was charged Monday.

Predicts Rise in Exports and Imports

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—American businessmen actively engaged in foreign trade foresee a moderate improvement this year in the chronic U.S. balance of payments deficit to just under $2 billion. They expect both exports and imports to rise to new highs.

President Johnson's budget proposals may aid in this in the final six months of the year. He is asking Congress for $3.4 billion in new foreign aid funds in the fiscal year starting July 1, the lowest request since 1948. And, more importantly perhaps he is promising further economies in other forms of dollar outflows from government programs.

The businessmen's estimates of increased trade also seem in line with the President's assessment of gain to be achieved in upcoming trade negotiations.

"The United States' 30-year campaign to reduce barriers to world trade will reach a climax in 1964. United States industry and agriculture are in excellent condition to seize the new opportunities offered by trade liberalization and to weather the adjustments that may be required."

The businessmen's prediction of a $1.9-billion deficit in 1964—the seventh consecutive deficit in the nation's international accounts—is contained in the 13th annual outlook report of the balance of payments group of the National Foreign Trade Council.

The group of foreign traders and bankers estimates the 1963 deficit at $2.6 billion, as measured by the annual changes in U.S. gold and convertible currency holdings and in liquid liabilities.

The 40 experts see exports of commercial goods rising to $22.7 billion in 1964 from $21.7 billion in 1963, and imports going to $18 billion from the 1963 figure of $16.9 billion. This would give a net $4.7-billion trade surplus for the United States, about the same as last year.

Whittling down this trade surplus will be foreign aid spending, costs of military forces abroad, government loans and private capital investment abroad.

But the United States will also gain from income on its private investments abroad and by charges for services.

The group figures that altogether the United States will send $34.9 billion abroad and get $33 billion back. The resulting $1.9-billion deficit would be a welcome drop from the $3.9 billion in 1960, and the $3.7 billion in 1959.

In his report to Congress the President stresses "continued price stability and export promotion to maintain or improve the competitive position of our exports."

The foreign traders agree that the danger of the United States pricing itself out of world markets is less important today than formerly. They see as this year's chief competitive factors increasing technological advances abroad and the ability of foreign manufacturers to deliver goods more rapidly.

Rocket to Pass Through State

WASHINGTON (AP)—The hull of the world's largest rocket ever designed for transportation over highways left Silver Creek, N.Y., Monday en route to Beaumont, Calif., and is scheduled to pass through Arkansas.

The Air Force called it the first practical demonstration of the transportability of such a missile over existing highways. Special arrangements had to be made with highway authorities in 12 states to permit its shipment by truck tractor. The solid propellant, three-stage rocket is 13-feet in diameter. The trip is expected to take about two weeks.

which you performed no service, unemployment compensation paid by a state, although supplemental employment benefits from a company-financed supplemental employment fund are taxable.

Make My Bed Soon

By Jack Webb

THE STORY: In a hotel in Phoenix, Los Angeles police Lieutenant Valerich turns up to see Duffey. Valerich thinks Duffey might be innocent of a charge Duffey was sent to prison for.

IV

Valerich stood up. He came over and put a hand on my shoulder. "I've got the rest of the day," he said. "What do you suggest we do with it?"

I shook my head. "With you, Lieutenant, nothing." "Okay, champ," he said. "Okay, hero," he leaned down beside me and pulled the gun out from under the pillow. "That is a nice piece," he said, "a real nice piece. Now you be careful with it." He dropped it on the spread.

He went out the door and shut it quietly behind him. I sat on the bed and watched him go. Both of us knew what he had done, the jury of my peers notwithstanding. He had flown from Los Angeles to tell me that perhaps he believed I wasn't a thief.

Because the lead in Scottsville hadn't worked out, I went and got my little black book. Solly's address wouldn't have attracted the tourist trade.

If you go down into south Phoenix as far as South Mountain you can get into some pleasant places. If you go only a part of that distance, you're in a spot. That was where I found Solly's Viva Juarez! Juarez would never have acknowledged the joint.

I sat at the bar and ordered a beer. There were a couple of motorcyclists geying the pinball machine. They were girdled with enormous kidney belts and had come a long way from the Rover Boys.

I drank my beer and watched a couple come into the bar. The woman pushed her way into a corner booth without letting go of the man's hand.

The waitress came out of the curtained hole and went over to take care of the couple in the booth. Walking across the floor, she lost a great deal of the gift the old gods had given. Her legs were thick and almost without ankles, and she walked splay-footed in shapeless gold sandals.

Because I had been watching the girl, I was not aware of his arrival, only that he stood before me as silent as a spider and about as friendly. He was a tall man, thin, with a gray face and sparse hair to match. He said finally, "You don't look like no friend of Jinx's to me."

"I spent a year in the same hotel. We shared the same suite, you might say. You can get pretty well acquainted in a year. He told me to tell you that as cars go to junk you wouldn't doubt that he had sent me."

The gray man's eyes darted from side to side like mice in small cages, and then returned to me.

"Jinx is dead."

"You're crazy," I said.

He shook his head. "The chaplain wrote us. My wife is his next of kin. And last night you was in Scottsville looking for Jimmy Turner."

"He wasn't there," I said, "the only place I looked, he wasn't bartending any more. If you know that much, you probably know where I spent the night."

"Know where you went?"

and now this ghost—they all seemed to know a lot about me. Everything I had done in the last 24 hours appeared to have opened a pipe line.

"You went to the police station. You was in to see the Chief."

"We're old friends," I snapped. "He was so glad to see me that he invited me to spend the night."

The gray man curled his lower lip and whistled a single sharp note between his teeth. The next thing I knew for sure, the two young men who had been playing the pinball machine had me boxed in on either side.

One of them said, "Yeah, Solly?"

If the other patrons of the bar were interested in us they took great pains not to show it. I said, "Now wait a minute."

Solly said, "Our young friend just come down from being with the Jinx. Last night he was out looking for Jimmy Turner."

The two young men waited. We all waited. I dropped my feet off the rungs of the bar stool. A strong brown hand curled around my right elbow.

Solly nodded and the two young men marched me down along the bar and around the corner, so we could go through the curtain. We went into the kitchen and I was just as glad I hadn't ordered a tamale.

Whatever they had in store for me, it couldn't be much more dangerous than the home cooking.

Guest Stars in Tribute to Godfrey

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—A larger-than-life group of men and women turned up Monday night on CBS "I've Got a Secret" to help guest Arthur Godfrey celebrate his 30th year in broadcasting.

They were the Lone Ranger, the Green Hornet, Boston Blackie, and the Shadow, on one hand. And Stella Dallas, Our Gal Sunday, Helen Trent and Johns Other Wife on the other.

These actors who played the starring roles in the most popular adventure yarns and long-playing soap operas date back to the golden days of radio.

The program was a gay salute to Godfrey—and provided an agreeable change from the usual format of the panel show. The venerable half-hour show presided over by Garry Moore seems to have fallen into a rut lately, with uninteresting secret-holders and silly pranks dreamed up for the long suffering panel.

CBS expects to have its 1964-65 schedule pretty well locked up by the end of this month, unusually early. Program Vice President Michael Dann said there would be at least 15 new programs in the lineup.

These will include six hour-long dramatic shows, each with a continuing character; two new variety shows, a live half-hour comedy panel show, with Alan King, and five half-hour situation comedies.

Dann is convinced that the anthology lacking continuing characters is a television form that cannot survive.

"There just is not enough good writing available to build up a script backlog," he said.

Fifteen new programs also means that a like number of programs will be dropped or will move elsewhere.

Jack Benny and Danny Thomas already have announced moves to NBC, and others, including "Route 66," the Alfred Hitchcock hour, the Judy Garland Show, are expected to leave, too. Others are in rather shaky condition, including "East Side, West Side." Some, including "Tell It To The Camera" are unlikely candidates for renewal.

Girl 10, to Become a Mother

CHICAGO (AP) — Doctors have confirmed that a 10-year-old girl, described by her fourth grade teacher as "quiet, timid and small," will become a mother in about two weeks. The child was placed in care of a foster family at the age of 3, following her mother's death. Police said she named a 16-year-old boy, a member of the foster family, as the father-to-be. All are Negroes. The physician who confirmed teachers' suspicions said the girl's pregnancy "is so innocent that motherhood is incomprehensible." He added:

"When I told her she is going to have a baby, she asked, 'A real one?' She's up there (in her room) cutting out paper dolls. She cries a lot. She wonders what's going to happen to her and her baby."

The doctor said Catholic charities will take care of the girl after the baby's birth.

The youngest girl to have given birth to a baby who survived was a 5-year-old in Peru in 1939. The baby was born by Caesarean section.

Injuries Fatal to Pine Bluff Youth

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP) — Gregory Lee Harrell, 16, of Pine Bluff, died today in a hospital of injuries suffered Tuesday night when his motorbike collided with a car on a country road near Pine Bluff.

State Trooper L. J. Cruce said Harrell tried to turn left and hit the car, driven by Jimmy Beeson, 19, of Pine Bluff, as it was passing him. Beeson was hospitalized for shock.

A passenger on the motorbike, Larry Stout, 15, of Pine Bluff, saw the accident was about to happen and jumped to safety.

UPSET WIFE AND MOTHER

By Helen Worden Erskine

Dear Helen: My daughter is the living image of me 17 years ago and this has brought about a strange situation. My husband takes her every place, gives her the money to run the house and treats me as if I were an interloper.

I've been a faithful wife, borne him seven children and am now working to make ends meet. I feel as if I were in a bad dream for I love my daughter and my husband. She, being young and inexperienced, doesn't see the dark implications of this unnatural obsession on the part of her stepfather.

His last words as he leaves in the morning are addressed to her. She is the first member of the family he inquires for when he returns at night. I speak and he doesn't hear me. I am but a hollow echo in my own home and it frightens me.

My husband was wounded in the last war and has a plate in his head. Do you think this could be affecting his mind? What can I do to save both our marriage and my daughter? — Upset

Dear Upset: Bizarre though your problem may seem it is not uncommon. Your daughter evidently doesn't realize that her stepfather's true attitude poses more of a problem for you. To tell her the truth is to run the risk of her thinking you jealous and as a consequence, alienating her.

This is something you'll have to work out yourself. You know your daughter. I don't. The same holds for your husband. The normal procedure would be to have it out with him but that head injury of his makes this chancy. Check with the branch of the Army in which your husband served. If his doctor still lives, see or write him. If not, talk to your family physician, being careful to give all the details so that he may advise you wisely. The head injury may well be the cause of your husband's twisted thinking. Ask your daughter to read my leaflet, "Sex Education for Teenagers." A stamped, self-addressed envelope will bring it to you.

Dear Helen: I was in an automobile accident last year. Four months in the hospital made me turn to self-examination, reading, thinking. I read the newspaper more thoroughly, began writing poetry again. I became interested in your column. I was especially impressed with the compassion and understanding you gave an unwed mother. I tried to visualize the type of person you are and wrote a poem that describes the creed you seem to live by. I might be wrong but I still think it describes your personality. Here it is:

MY PRAYER
As I was walking in the woods—
Upon an autumn's day,
I thought, "How beautiful it is
With colors on display."
... And feeling my heart overflow,
I bowed my head in prayer,
"Dear God," I prayed, "please help me to
A better person be...
May truth abide within my heart,
And purity of mind;
And when I pray for guidance,
too,
The light, please, help me find.
May the wretched and the lonely—
Find me a worthy friend.
And faith in You I will not lose,
So help me, God, Amen."
Wishing you continued success and thanking you for the enjoyable reading you have given me, I am—M. T.

Dear M. T.: Thank you for the friendly words! I read your poem to my husband and asked him if he felt it described my personality. He said, "Parts of it are very appropriate. Appreciation of beauty, particularly colors, describes you. The desire to be guided into useful and constructive channels is good but I'd say 'My Prayer' is an indication of the things you stand for rather than of your personality. There is more action in your make-up. Prayer without action is not your philosophy."

Have you a problem? Perhaps Helen Worden Erskine can help you. Write her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Agriculture Takes Large Budget Slash

By OVID A. MARTIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson called upon agriculture today to take the largest percentage reduction in its budget—20 per cent—of any single governmental activity for the coming fiscal year.

In his budget message to Congress, the President outlined expenditures for agriculture and agricultural resources totaling $5,665,000,000 for the financial year beginning July 1. This is a reduction of $1,285,000,000 from estimated spending in the current fiscal year.

Despite the slash, Johnson said that if new cotton and dairy programs to be recommended by him become law, farm income would be improved over this year's level.

The bulk of the reduction in agricultural spending would be on programs not directly connected with a farm-income bolstering activities. Included would be the Food for Peace program under which surpluses are sold at concessionary terms or donated to needy countries; a plan to shift financing of rural housing loans from the government to private funds under an insured loan program; and a plan to shift cost of inspection of meat, poultry and grains from the federal treasury to processors and dealers.

Johnson estimated spending in the new year on programs relating to farm price supports, bolstering of farm incomes, conservation of water and land and payments for holding cropland out of production would total about $1,891,000,000 during the coming year compared with $1,890,500,000 this year if present programs are continued.

But he envisioned a saving of $230 million in costs of these activities if Congress enacted new cotton and dairy legislation. While details of his recommendations on such legislation are yet to go to Capitol Hill, they are expected to propose making

State AMA Opposes Health Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—Dr. Joe Verser of Harrisburg, Ark., president of the Arkansas Medical Society, told the House Ways and Means Committee Tuesday that his group opposes a Social Security health plan.

He said the mechanics and the money are available in Arkansas "for taking care of these people who cannot take care of themselves."

Verser said about 60,000 persons in Arkansas who are 65 years old or older are potentially eligible for the existing program, but many are covered by payments to producers who help adjust production to market demands. The cost of these payments is calculated to be less than the cost of cotton and dairy product surpluses that government must now buy and store—often for long periods.

private insurance or "know that their children will help them in case of illness."

"They have sufficient private means and faith in their doctor to meet such emergencies or they are covered by other government programs," Verser said.

"A great many of our citizens over 65 are not indigent in any sense of the word and do not want to receive their medical care through any government program," he said.

Verser said all available information indicates there is only "a very small percentage of our population" whose needs are not already provided for.

"We are convinced that to burden the whole working population of this country with an additional tax and more regulations for the purpose of providing for this very small segment of our population is unnecessary and unjust," he said.

The committee is considering the administration bill to provide health and hospital benefits for persons over 65, paid for

Bans Cigarettes

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) —

Pennsylvania has banned cigarette sales at its four hospitals for tuberculosis and may ban them at state general and mental hospitals.

Dr. Charles L. Wilbar, health secretary, said Monday the ban was effective immediately because "smoking is an extremely dangerous habit."

by an extension of the Social Security payroll tax.

Such a plan would swamp doctors with "minor and imagined ailments," Verser said, and "many persons who really needed attention would have to go without."

The existing program of state-federal aid to the medically needy is working well in Arkansas, especially since information about the services available was spread by the society, Verser said.

He added that eligibility was recently liberalized.

State and Home in on conflict

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A Me-

na couple told the state Supreme Court Monday that an attempt to take their children because they refused to have them vaccinated because of religious beliefs put the state and home in conflict.

Mr. and Mrs. Archie Cude of Meina said in a brief filed by their lawyers that such action involves freedom of worship and the sacredness of the home, against the free education system.

A court order has been issued to give the state Welfare Department control of the Cude children because the couple refuses to have them vaccinated for smallpox. A state rule requires a child to be vaccinated before entering school.

The Supreme Court has issued an order staying the commitment until the Cude's case can be heard in full.

Calm Seems Restored in Tangayika

By DENNIS NEEDLE

DAR ES SALAAM, Tanganyika (AP) — Tanganyika's President Julius Nyerere, seeking to calm a turbulent situation, says the mutiny by army units Monday was a small incident.

With relative quiet restored in Dar es Salaam, the capital, Nyerere appealed to the nation in a broadcast Tuesday night not to repeat the "great shame" of looting and wrecking that followed the revolt.

Nyerere asked the East African nation of 9 million not to panic in the aftermath of violence that killed at least 14 persons and injured scores.

The Tanganyika high commissioner's office in London said the country had returned to normal.

The principal effect of the mutiny appeared to be dismissal of 30 British officers and 16 British noncoms on loan to Tanganyika to train and lead the army. The mutineers demanded better pay and replacement of the British with Africans.

However, many Britons wondered whether Communist influence was behind the outbreak in their former territory.

Only 10 days ago African nationalists, some with Communist training, overthrew the government of Zanzibar, another former British possession, only a few miles off the Tanganyikan coast.

One Witness at Hearing

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Only one witness appeared in an Interstate Commerce Commission hearing which opened at Hot Springs Monday on a controversy over allowances paid by railroads to ginners for hauling cotton to compresses.

The hearing is one of several to be held in cotton producing states on the issue. Agriculture Secretary Orville Freeman is supporting continuance of the allowances.

Representatives for a number of railroads and the ginning industry from Arkansas and Oklahoma are attending the hearing.

It is being conducted by Federal Trial Examiner T. Russell Roper who said it would probably continue for several days.

McLellan Held Is Explained

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department has explained the halting of an impromptu news conference with its U.S. marshal for the Panama Canal Zone, saying it was a mistake and there was no intent to keep him from speaking.

The marshal, C. A. McLellan, formerly of Camden, Ark., was holding the conference at Andrews Air Force Base, Md. Tuesday when an Air Force officer stepped in and broke it up.

The Department said it instructed the officer to get McLellan to the Chief U.S. Marshal's office quickly, but it had no idea he was meeting newsmen.

McLellan will confer with government officials about the tense Panamanian situation.

948 Girls, Two Boys in School

DETROIT (AP) — Take two young fellows, enroll them with 948 girls in what previously had been an all-girl school, and what more could any men want?

Well, said Jeroslave (Jerry) Sup and Robert Woods Monday, things would be just perfect at Mercy College "if we had a baseball diamond, a football field and a few more guys."

New York's China Town Is Growing

By FRANCIS STILLEY

NEW YORK (AP) — New York's "Little China" is growing every day.

The population of Chinatown, on Manhattan's Lower East Side, has more than doubled in the past 10 years.

As a result it is rapidly overflowing traditional borders of the Chinese section which until about two years ago had existed intact since its formation at the turn of the century.

Two factors created the booming population, now estimated to total around 37,000:

In May 1962, a presidential order waived immigration laws as a means of relieving the crush in the British colony of Hong Kong caused by Chinese fleeing Red China. This quickly brought some 7,000 Chinese to New York.

Before the Communists took over mainland China in the late 1940s, many single Chinese men came here to earn money and eventually returned to their families in China. Now they are staying here and sending for their wives and children.

The Chinese are replacing Puerto Ricans, Italians and Jews in tenement areas bordering Chinatown.

The change in Chinatown has not been without its problems. Chinese youth are becoming more Americanized, often for-

Charges MOP Tow Was Unsafe

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Clyde A. Rose, a San Antonio Railroad machinist, testified Tuesday that the Missouri Pacific Railroad towed two wrecked railroad engines to Little Rock, Ark., in an unsafe condition.

He said they were taken to Arkansas for repairs without adequate brakes or grab irons —bars for switchmen to hold during car movements.

Texas Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr is trying to prove the railroad has taken rolling stock out of Texas for repairs in violation of a Texas law which requires repairs to rolling stock to be made in Texas.

MoPac attorneys contend the law is unconstitutional.

The state is asking for a temporary injunction to prevent the line from repairing its stock outside Texas and $5,000 a day damages for previous violations.

Carr filed a suit at Houston asking Dist. Judge Bert Tunks to cancel the business permit of MoPac on the allegation that it has violated the law.

saking the strict codes of behavior and respect for elders which once were the trademarks of their family life.

Chinese boys with ducktail haircuts can be seen nightly roaming Mott Street.

One boy observed:

"We are being picked on more and more at school and in nearby playgrounds by the Puerto Ricans and Italians. One of these days we are going to form a gang and fight back."

Mother Asks Mercy for Convicted Son

By JOHN R. STARR

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The mother of Charles Franklin Fields came to Gov. Orval E. Faubus' office today to ask mercy for her son, who is scheduled to die in the electric chair Friday for rape.

Mrs. Effie Byrd of Little Rock did not get to see the governor. But she talked with John Browning, the administrative aide who handles clemency matters.

Browning promised to refer the matter to Faubus.

Fields, 32, was convicted in connection with an attack on a farm wife during a break from Tucker Prison Farm Jan. 15, 1962. Before he was recaptured, he also fatally shot C. A. Mercer, a Desha County farmer, near Altzheimer.

Fields was never brought to trial on the murder charge but he could be tried for it if his rape sentence is commuted.

When he escaped from prison, Fields was serving a life sentence for rape in Marion County. He entered the prison a week before his 16th birthday on Feb. 22, 1947.

Mrs. Byrd said she and her son moved to Arkansas in August 1946 after she separated from the boy's father.

She said she got a job in Yelville and her son worked on farms in Marion County.

She later remarried and lived with her second husband at Hot Springs until he died April 10, 1961. She later moved to Little Rock.

For the past week, she said she has been living with friends at Pine Bluff so that she can make daily visits to her son on death row at the prison farm. She said she has visited him twice a week since Dec. 31, when Faubus set Friday as his execution date.

The Marion County rape case involved an attack on a 23-year-old woman. Mrs. Byrd said Fields had never been in trouble before and that she had reported cards to prove that he was a good student before he quit school in Indiana after the eighth grade.

Mrs. Byrd said the 1962 prison break came just 12 days after the state Pardons and Paroles Board had put off for a year consideration of Fields' bid for commutation of sentence.

Commutation would have made him eligible for parole.

Mrs. Fields said she would visit her son today, then confer with her attorney, George Holmes, in Pine Bluff.

She said she would visit Fields once or twice Thursday.

Fields was a model prisoner at Tucker for 15 years before the break. He had been made a trustee and had been given a pistol to guard a herd of hogs against wild dogs.

It was this pistol that he used in the 90-minute break in which he stole three trucks, pulled a

Security at Archives Bldg. Is Tightened

By MARTHA COLE

WASHINGTON (AP)—The National Archives Building, where rest the records of a nation 187 years old, has tighter security regulations since a recent theft. But authorities have no fear of anyone stealing the Declaration of Independence or other great documents.

"We feel there's absolutely no possibility of anyone making off with the real national treasures," Dr. Robert H. Bahmer, deputy archivist of the United States, said in an interview.

Despite elaborate safeguards, presidential letters and other documents valued at $500,000 were stolen from the research area.

The three great charters of freedom of the United States are enshrined in the exhibition hall of the Archives Building.

These are the Declaration of Independence, the Constitution of the United States and the Bill of Rights.

During the hours the building is open to the public, from 9 a.m. to 10 p.m., a guard stands $94 robbery, raped the woman and killed the man.

The state Supreme Court upheld his death sentence for rape on Jan. 14, 1963, rejecting 21 alleged errors in trial court proceedings.

Better Know How to Figure Income Tax

EDITOR'S NOTE — You can commit costly errors in filing a return on 1963 income if you do not understand how to figure your tax. Here are the ground rules to follow in working out your tax. This is the third of five special articles.

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Writer

You may save on your 1963 income tax return by understanding the rules that apply to people figuring their own tax and the rules on husbands and wives, including their exemptions.

If your income was $5,000 or more you must figure your tax. You will find the tax rate which fits you in one of the schedules in the instruction sheet sent taxpayers by the Internal Revenue Service.

People with under $5,000 income, without figuring, can find their tax in a table also contained in the instruction sheet. They can also figure their own if for some reason, like big deductions, they save by it.

The rules on the three tax rate schedules:

Single persons and married couples filing separately must use schedule No. 1, which has the highest tax rate.

Married people filing a joint return, and certain widows and widowers use Schedule No. 2, which has the lowest tax rate.

Unmarried or legally separated people who qualify as "head of household" use schedule No. 3, which provides a lower tax than No. 1 but higher than No. 2.

Some rules on husbands and wives:

A husband and wife must both sign a return for it to be joint. A wife with $600 of income must, like anyone else with that much income, file a return, separately or jointly with her husband.

Most couples save by filing jointly because they can use schedule No. 2 with its lowest tax rate. In some special cases they save by separate returns, even though they have to use schedule No. 1, with its highest rate. If in doubt, figure your tax both ways.

Exemptions: $600 for yourself when you file a return and are under 65; $1,200 if you are over 65; an additional $600 if you're blind at any age. You get the same exemptions for your wife if she fits the rules.

If you're under 65 and had a taxable income of $600 or more you must file a return. If you're over 65 you don't have to file unless your income was $1,200 or more. The same goes for your wife.

When a husband and wife file jointly, each claims a $600 exemption on that joint return. If you and your wife file separately, you each claim your own $600 exemption on your separate returns.

When you file separately, both must accept the standard deduction without itemizing or, if one itemizes, then both must itemize and use Form 1040.

A single person or a couple filing jointly are allowed a standard deduction of 10 per cent of their income up to a limit of $1,000 for nonbusiness expenses.

This doesn't apply for married couples filing separately. In that case their separate returns each can take the standard deduction of 10 per cent of income up to a limit of $500.

by the great documents, enclosed in glass cases.

After the great bronze doors of the building are closed, slowly an electric mechanism begins to operate.

Merely, the seven sealed glass cases containing the precious parchments begin to descend. It takes one minute for them to sink to a 50-ton vault, 20 feet below the floor, there to spend the night.

The vault is of steel and reinforced concrete with floor and walls 1 foot, 3 inches thick. The two doors of the same thickness that lock over it weigh 5 tons each. The vault is fireproof, shockproof and is considered bombproof.

In an emergency, the documents can be lowered at a moment's notice. In case of power failure, a stand-by mechanism will lower them and close the vault.

There's more than theft from which to protect the documents. Damage could result from light, air, heat, cold, mold and dust.

To safeguard against these, each parchment document leaf is sealed in helium, an inert gas, in its own bronze-bound case of filtered glass.

Produce Is Featured in Markets

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Fresh produce supplies have felt the impact of recent storms but housewives still will find a wide selection at the nation's supermarkets this weekend.

Iceberg lettuce is in shorter supply and prices tend to be a little higher for green beans, cabbage, sweet corn and squash in many areas because of cold weather.

Fresh vegetables that continue in generous supply include brussels sprouts, carrots, celery, onions, potatoes, sweet potatoes, tomatoes and turnips. Meat prices, meanwhile, have shown signs of rising. However, retail prices so far are still generally lower than a year ago.

Beef attractions this weekend include ground beef, chuck, rib and rump roasts, and chuck, round and sirloin steaks. Ribs of beef are off a couple cents a pound at wholesale on the West Coast. Roasts are the chief Southeastern feature.

Pork attractions include ham, loin and butt roasts, sausage and bacon. Some stores are also featuring lamb.

Turkeys are being promoted more frequently. One chain features them at 39 cents a pound in northeastern stores. Coffee prices have risen at

Says Movies Have to Have Realism Now

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-Television Writer HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "You won't be seeing much of me any more," said Clyde Mack, the cynical flack.

"How so?" I asked, trying to disguise my delight. The visits of the chronically unemployed press agent are an occupational hazard.

"I've got it all figured out how to make a bundle and get out of this crummy racket," he replied.

"It's open season on the armed forces—see?" he continued. "You remember those pictures with Randy Scott leading the charge out of the landing boat with a hearty 'Gung ho!'?" And Bill Bendix cradling the machine gun in his arms and yelling, 'I'll get them lousy bums!'?"

"No more of that hero jazz. You got to have realism in movies nowadays. War isn't some kid's game. War is hell, don't you know, and it's fought by devils."

"The Army gets its licks in 'The Victors.' You think those wholesale and shoppers may find rises for both ground and instant varieties in the weeks ahead.

Development Unexpected

SHEBOYGAN, Wis. (AP) — Church Unity Week, as celebrated in Sheboygan, included an unexpected development. The sermon of the Rev. Dr.

GI's in Europe were a bunch of Lon McCallisters? Not on your life. They were sex mad black-market dealers who went around shooting puppies.

"Don't think the Air Force is going to get off easy. Take 'Dr. Strangelove.' There you've got a cigar-chomping general who thinks the Russians are subverting the American body fluids by means of fluoridation. What's the solution? By air-mailing a few dozen H-bombs to the Soviets."

"Next comes the Navy, and 'The Americanization of Emily' will take care of it. You think that's a nice little movie about an immigrant girl? No it's about a Navy officer who's the ace freeloader during the British blitz and an admiral who thinks the Army is getting all the glory in D-Day and wants the Navy to score the first casualty on the Normandy beachhead."

I asked him to get to the point. "Don't you see it?" he demanded. "What haven't the movies knocked yet? The Marines that has ever been written and sell it to the studios for a small fortune. After that, I'm going to work on the Peace Corps."

Salaries of Officials Going Up

By DON MCKEE

Associated Press Writer ATLANTA (AP) — Following the trend in the cost of living, salaries of Southern governors have been going up lately. They've hit $25,000 a year in a majority of Southern states.

Salaries have been raised in four states in recent years, probably in an effort to make the office more attractive. After all, there are a lot of headaches. If you don't think so, ask your governor. He'll tell you—roads to pave, schools to build, jobs to fill, pensions to pay, and such.

The lowest paid of 11 Southern governors is Orval E. Faubus, the veteran governor of Arkansas. His salary is $10,000.

T. Parry Jones, pastor of the First Methodist Church, was delivered to the congregation at St. Peter Claver Roman Catholic Church last Sunday.

The Rev. Robert Hoeller said the public address system at St. Peter's picked up Dr. Jones' address.

"I'm delighted that I had an opportunity to preach to Father Hoeller's congregation," said Dr. Jones.

"I will be happy to give him equal time."

Spending and Cash Receipts to Be Higher

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst NEW YORK (AP) — How the next federal budget will differ from the current one in its effect on business and consumers and taxpayers is shown in government spending and in expected collections.

The figures President Johnson has submitted for the fiscal year starting July 1 also reveal the actual cash receipts and payments, which run higher than the formal administrative budget given to Congress. Total cash receipts from the public are expected to rise and total cash payments to the public to remain steady, after some adjustments of transactions between government agencies.

The details of the changes are significant.

Increased spending is scheduled for education, for health, labor and welfare, and for space research and technology. And a big boost will be the $400 million more interest to be paid—$11.1 billion in all—on an expanding federal debt with rising interest costs.

Sectors of the economy scheduled to receive less federal outlays in the next fiscal year are mainly agriculture and industries involved in national defense. Veterans benefits and services and international affairs cost a bit less.

The government, on the other hand, is counting on collecting more in individual income taxes and corporation income taxes, despite the proposed cut in rates because incomes and earnings are expected to rise, and also in excise taxes because consumers are expected to buy more of the things thus taxed.

Higher employment tax receipts and interest on trust investments are expected to swell government trust fund accounts.

In all, the government departments covered in the administrative budget and the various agencies not included, are expected to pay $122.7 billion in cash to the public, and to take in $119.7 billion from the public.

This $3-billion deficit will be about $2 billion under the one predicted in the formal administrative budget, which puts receipts at $93 billion and expenditures at $97.9 billion by omitting the independent agencies.

The cash outflow and inflow will have the closer relation to the economy as a whole.

The President stresses the budget's economic effect this way: "In setting the relationship between government expenditures and taxation, the budget is also a powerful economic force which can help or hamper our efforts to achieve stable prosperity and steady growth."

This economic force will be shaped by such things as a proposed $1.1-billion drop in military spending, and the hoped for $1.2-billion decline in the cost of farm programs. The President's shifting emphasis also is seen in his request for $1.1 billion as a starter in his proposed war on poverty.

a year, plus $1,800 for expenses and a mansion with maintenance. A salary itself does not always tell the whole story.

For example, the Tennessee governor gets $18,500 a year in salary but he also gets $18,000 a year for expenses of the executive mansion.

Tennessee's legislature was one of four raising the pay of their governors in the past four years. His pay was hiked from $12,000 a year in 1961, effective last year.

Florida's governor was raised in 1963 from $22,500 to $25,000. He also got a mansion, car, airplane and travel expenses.

Mississippi raised its governor's salary from $15,000 to $25,000 in 1960. Office and mansion expenses are also provided in Mississippi.

In North Carolina, the governor's salary was increased from $22,000 to $25,000 in 1959. The governor also gets $5,000 a year for expenses and $6,000 for public entertainment.

Other governors making $25,000 a year base salary are those in Texas, Alabama and Virginia.

Georgia's governor is paid a salary of $12,000 yearly as set by the 1946 state Constitution. However, he draws $19,200 total pay with service on 23 state boards and longevity.

The Georgia governor gets $25,000 a year for the expenses of running the executive mansion.

In Louisiana, the chief executive is paid $20,000 a year, gets a mansion and living expenses, plus office expenses.

The Texas governor gets $25,000 salary plus traveling expenses and $26,000 for two years of running the mansion.

South Carolina's governor gets $20,000 salary and $45,000 a year to keep up the mansion.

In Alabama, the $25,000 salary is supplemented by a mansion and expenses — although the law says he must provide his own food.

Atom Blasts Could Dig a Canal Fast

EDITOR'S NOTE — Fresh

discussion about the possibility of the United States building a second canal in Central America has sprung up since violence flared in the Panama Canal Zone. Nuclear power would provide the cheapest excavation method. Could such power be used for this purpose under the limited nuclear test-ban treaty? How effective is the use of nuclear power for excavation? This article covers these points and other problems that would be involved in building a new canal.

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER WASHINGTON (AP) — If the United States decides to build a second canal in Central America in the near future, using nuclear blasts to move the earth, it almost certainly would have to get the agreement of the Soviet Union and about 50 other nations.

But if the much-discussed new waterway paralleling the disputed Panama Canal is built a few years from now the Soviets may no longer have the power of veto under the limited nuclear test-ban treaty signed in Moscow last summer.

It all depends on what the scientists call "the state of the art" of using nuclear explosives for excavations.

This is the consensus among government officials, including legal experts, whose views have been canvassed for answers to the question:

Does the Soviet Union have the power under the test-ban treaty to block canal construction with nuclear explosives?

The question arises because the cost of a big ditch somewhere in the Central American isthmus would be far less if nuclear power were used than if conventional explosives had to be employed. Official estimates are that a nuclear excavation to provide a new link between the Atlantic and Pacific oceans could run as low as $500 million. If the job were done with dynamite and other blasting materials the estimated cost would exceed $2.5 billion.

Sometime next month the Joint Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee plans to hold hearings on the feasibility of using nuclear explosives for a new canal. But apart from what is technically possible at this stage in view of the problems of radioactivity there is the question of the United States commitments under the test-ban treaty.

"We would have to get Russian agreement," said Rep.

Last Train Makes Run From Spa

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Missouri Pacific Railroad made its last Hot Springs to Little Rock passenger run Monday and the train carried more than its usual number of passengers.

The travelers included railroad buffs and a group of Hot Springs first graders taking their first train ride. Many of the passengers bought round-trip tickets but only traveled one-way so they would have a souvenir of the trip.

The railroad obtained permission from the Arkansas Public Service Commission to discontinue the run after it said it was losing money on it.

Holifield, D-Calif., senior House member of the joint committee, "and they're not likely to give it willingly."

Diplomats are not certain that the Soviets would raise insuperable objections.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee last August that he thought the United States might get word from the Soviets at some point "that they themselves want to use an underground explosion for a particular peaceful uses purpose."

"We would have to get Russian agreement," said Rep.

Some Facts of Life in Arkansas

By J. C. TILLMAN
Associated Press Writer

The reports and controversy on smoking has caused a drug-store owner at Ash Grove to place an advertisement in the Ash Grove Common wealth newspaper:

"To our customers: Next to your God and your family, your health is the most important thing in the world to you. As a member of the health team in your community your health is our business.

"Due to the evidence of extensive medical research, we feel it our duty to discontinue the sale of cigarettes in view of the overwhelming evidence against the cigarette as a health hazard."

Richard Conder, state income tax auditor for Arkansas, was a guest at a civil club meeting in Texarkana recently, and when introduced, got a warm applause.

A friend quipped to him as he sat down, "Don't think too much of the applause, Richard, because only Texans applauded."

Also at Texarkana, it has been said that David Malaby doesn't like to take a Sunday drive unless he has a destination.

His wife fixes that problem though. She selects a place.

A Little Rock couple has discovered small stones at Lake Maumelle that, when crushed and mixed with a little water and starch, make a pastel paste for art work.

The material is listed in books as similar to that used by Indians in their various paintings and crafts, but a quick check revealed no evidence that Arkansas Indians used the material.

A spokesman for the Arkansas Arts Center says he knows of no one now using the material seriously, and since commercially prepared materials are more stable, the rocks would have no commercial value.

And William Norman, the state geologist, says he hasn't happened on any uses of the material in his work.

The rock produces a limited, but bright, number of hues — gray, black, ochre and reddish tints. It can be used for finger painting or applied with a brush or stick.

1963 Driest Year in Arkansas

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The year 1963 was the driest year on record in the Arkansas and White river basin reservoirs, Army Engineers announced today.

Rainfall in the basin drainage area of the seven completed reservoirs ranged from 89 per cent down to about half normal.

The Clearwater basin lacked only 8.12 inches of rain to reach normal. Blue Mountain and Table Rock had the least amount of rain. Both lacked 21 inches having normal rainfall.

The lack of rainfall has not had important effect on the reservoirs except for those multiple-purpose projects which require 12.4 feet since the beginning of 1963. Norfolk has dropped 6.1 feet and Bull Shoals has dropped 5.4 feet.

Here is the 1963 rainfall, with the normal rainfall in parentheses, in the seven reservoirs:

Blue Mountain 23.67 (45.57), Clearwater 35.51 (43.63), Minnrod 29.95 (48.72), Norfolk 30.75 (44.96), Bull Shoals 27.02 (44.62), Table Rock 24.11 (45.42) and Greers Ferry 30.42 (46.03).

Wants Race Report on Education

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Teachers Association, a Negro organization, has adopted resolutions approving a civil rights report on Arkansas education and expressing dissatisfaction with the state Department of Education.

The report approved was that of the Arkansas Advisory Committee to the U.S. Commission on Civil Rights, which said the state has made virtually no progress in the past decade in equalizing education facilities for Negroes and whites.

Gov. Orval E. Faubus has said he is considering a challenge to the committee to prove its allegations with figures or retract them.

The ATA resolution said that some progress has been made, but more could be done if the state department of Education would exert leadership.

"The ATA has long been dissatisfied with the hands-off policy of the state department . . . at the local level," the resolution said.

"This policy gives silent approval to the perpetuation of inequalities in our local school districts."

Commission to Rule on Dispute

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The state Claims Commission was to hear today a dispute over $1,300 which an attorney claims is his fee for winning a lawsuit in which $13,100 was recovered by the state public school fund.

The state attorney general's office has agreed that this money, obtained through a suit won by Roy Finch Jr. of Little Rock, was recovered from state Teacher Retirement System payments.

Finch represented Winston G. Chandler, a member of the Pulaski County (Rural) School Board, who objected to the inclusion of non-public school employees in the retirement system. Eugene Warren of Little Rock, attorney for the Arkansas Education Association, has indicated he will oppose Finch's claim, the commission said.

How to Take Income Tax Exemptions

EDITOR'S NOTE—Do you know who to claim as a dependent in filing a tax return on 1963 income? Do you understand how to claim exemptions for the full benefit to yourself? In this fourth of five articles you will find the answers to these and other questions that may save you money.

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Writer

You knock $600 off your income—before what's left is taxable—for each exemption you can claim in filing your 1963 income tax return.

A person filing a return gets a $600 exemption for himself if he is under 65, an additional $600 if he's 65, and $600 if he's blind. He gets the same for his wife.

The person filing a return also gets a $600 exemption for each person he can claim as a dependent but he doesn't get an extra $600 if the dependent is 65 or blind.

Who's a dependent? It varies. Your child can be claimed as a dependent if he was born or died in 1963 (but not a stillborn child) if you contributed to more than half his support in that part of the year when he was alive.

Age is a vital factor in deciding whether you can claim your own child as a dependent, or a stepchild or adopted child. The age is 19.

If he was under 19 and you provided more than half his support, you can claim him as a dependent and it wouldn't make any difference how much income he had, under or over $600.

But if he was over 19 and had $600 or more income—even though you contributed more than half his support—you couldn't claim him as a dependent unless he qualified as a full-time student.

Your over-19 child would not qualify as a full-time student if he had a regular or part-time job or went to night school or took correspondence courses.

What happens if your under-19 child, or your over-19 child who qualifies as a student dependent, had $600 or more income?

He would file his own return, claiming his own $600 exemption, and paying any tax he owed but you could take a $600 exemption for him on your return and not have to include his income in your return.

A paid servant in your house can not be claimed as a dependent. But a friend can be if he lived in your house the full year and got more than half his support from you—provided any income of his own did not amount to as much as $600 for the year.

If he had $600 or more income he'd have to file his own return, taking his own $600 exemption, and you couldn't claim him as an exemption even though you did contribute to more than half his support.

The following relatives—in addition to your child—can be claimed as dependents if the rules given below apply to them:

Your grandchild, great-grandchild, and so on; your legally adopted child or stepchild, but not the latter's descendants; your brother or sister; your parents, grandparents, or other direct ancestors, but not a foster parent; your stepfather or stepmother; your niece or nephew, meaning a son or daughter of your brother or sister; your father-in-law, mother-in-law, son-in-law, daughter-in-law, brother-in-law, or sister-in-law.

Death or divorce does not end those relationships. For example: you can continue to claim your father-in-law as a dependent—even though your wife died or divorced you—if he got more than half his support from you.

The relatives listed above did not have to live with you to qualify as dependents. For example: you may have been paying more than half the support of your mother or father who was living with your brother.

In short: you can claim any of them as a dependent if he did not have as much as $600 of his LIBREVILLE, Gabon (AP) — President Leon M'ba has dissolved Gabon's national assembly in an effort to cut expenses in this West African country. M'ba said another assembly with fewer members would be elected but he did not set the election date.

TOKYO (AP) — Belgian Foreign Minister Paul-Henri Spaak complained today because France had not consulted her North Atlantic Allies before deciding to recognize Communist China.

Spaak told a news conference President Charles de Gaulle's decision "constitutes a clear setback to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization" because De Gaulle had ignored the agreement among NATO powers to consult each other before making decisions on important matters.

BONN, Germany (AP) — Foreign Minister Gerhard Schroeder said today France and West Germany are not obligated to consult on foreign policy with one another.

Schroeder was answering questions in the Bundestag, the lower house of Parliament, about France's intention to recognize Communist China.

WINNIPEG, Man. (AP) — Fire swept through the North Winnipeg home of Floyd Davis early today, killing four of his six small children. The other two children, their mother and an aunt were hospitalized.

Davis already was in the hospital, awaiting surgery.

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — The South Vietnamese Defense Ministry today reported 31 Viet Cong guerrillas and two self-defense corps members killed in two encounters.

ROME (AP) — The Italian cabinet has retired the prefects of Belluno and Udine provinces, which were ravaged by the Valont Dam disaster, and agreed to call a parliamentary inquiry.

Nearly 3,000 persons perished when a landslide caused the dam's reservoir to overflow, sending a wall of water crashing into the valley last Oct. 9.

Ruling Against Nine Is Upheld

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals upheld Tuesday a federal court ruling at Little Rock against nine persons who sued the estate of the late Little Rock Police Chief Eugene Smith.

The nine alleged that they were wrongfully arrested at Little Rock Central High School Aug. 12 1959, while a group of about 200 persons were protesting desegregation at the school.

The court ruled that the nine had been party to "unlawful and riotous assembly," thereby upholding the previous ruling of U.S. District Judge Gordon E. Young of Little Rock.

The plaintiffs had sued the Smith estate for $450,000. They claimed that they were falsely arrested and imprisoned by Smith and other Little Rock officers.

Selected Anyway

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Despite outspoken opposition from Algeria and Iraq, Israel's Abba Eban was named to a U.N. advisory committee Tuesday.

Eban became one of 18 members of a committee to advise the Economic and Social Council on the application of science and technology to development.

own in taxable income and got more than half his support from you.

Right here an important point arises in deciding who's a dependent. It is the difference between taxable and non-taxable income.

Social Security benefits are non-taxable. They do not have to be reported by anyone who had to file a return because he had $600 or more taxable income from some other source.

But when you as a taxpayer want to decide whether someone you wish to claim as a dependent got more than half his support from you, you may have to consider his Social Security income to this extent:

You must figure the support you gave him against the support he got from all other sources.

For example: suppose your mother got $700 in Social Security benefits but put the money in the bank and didn't use it to live on. You could claim her as a dependent if you provided more than half her support.

But, suppose she used her $700 to help her live. You couldn't claim her as a dependent unless you contributed more than $700 to her support.

Next: Deductions for personal expenses.

Embarrassed by Burglar Alarm

EASTON, Conn. (AP) — Mrs. Walter R. Whitman was embarrassed when the burglar alarm went off as she opened her front door to a caller Tuesday night. Mrs. Whitman, who had set the alarm because she was alone, hastily turned it off. Then the well dressed, clean-cut visitor, who had introduced himself as an insurance salesman, pulled a gun, police said.

Mrs. Whitman slammed the door, ran back and turned the alarm on again. The caller fled.

Goldwater's Welfare Idea Is Different

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater's idea of welfare is not only different from that of Congress but from that of all the administrations, Democratic and Republican, back to the New Deal.

The Arizonaan, campaigning for the Republican presidential nomination, laid down some of his ideas about caring for the poor in a speech last week and, before that, in his book, "The Conscience of a Conservative."

President Johnson expressed his views on tackling poverty in his State of the Union message to Congress last week and again Monday in his economic report. He is going to propose a broad program to fight poverty.

The philosophy of the administrations of Presidents Franklin D. Roosevelt, Harry S. Truman, Dwight D. Eisenhower, John F. Kennedy and Johnson can be summed up this way: the federal government has a responsibility for the general welfare.

Congress said the same thing in the Employment Act it passed in 1946.

In his book Goldwater said: "Let welfare be a private concern. Let it be promoted by individuals and families, by churches, private hospitals, religious service organizations, community charities and other institutions that have been established for this purpose."

"Finally, if we deem public intervention necessary, let the job be done by local and state authorities that are incapable of accumulating the vast political power that is so inimical to our liberties."

None of the administrations since the New Deal opposed private charities. They just didn't consider private charity enough.

In his speech last week, criticizing Johnson's idea of handling poverty, Goldwater left unspoken some of the remarks on poverty contained in his prepared speech.

Here are some of them: "We are told that many people lack skills and cannot find jobs because they did not have an education. That's like saying people have big feet because they wear big shoes."

"The fact is that most people who have no skill have had no education for the same reason—low intelligence or low ambition"—and that "workers in many other countries cannot earn as much as our welfare clients receive."

For pretty much of its history this country accepted the philosophy of private charity, denying the government had responsibility for people's welfare. This was abandoned in the depression of the New Deal days when welfare programs were adopted and have been national policy ever since.

Johnson's Council of Economic Advisers dwelt at length, in their section of the report, on poverty and the need to combat. They said: "One-fifth of our families and nearly one-fifth of our total population are poor. There were 47 million families in the United States in 1962. Fully 9.3 million, or one-fifth of these families — comprising more than 30 million persons—had total income below $3,000 (and) 5.4 million families, containing more than 17 million persons, had total income below $2,000."

While Goldwater talked of poverty as rooted in "low intelligence or low ambition," the President's economic advisers concluded: "Poverty breeds poverty. A poor individual or family has a high probability of staying poor."

"Low incomes carry with them high risks of illness; limitations on mobility; limited access to education and training. Poor parents cannot give their children the opportunities for better health and education needed to improve their lot. Thus the cruel legacy of poverty is passed from parents to children."

Goods Exchange

TOKYO (AP) — Mongolia and Communist China signed a protocol on goods exchange for 1964 in Peking Monday, the New China News Agency reported. It said Mongolia will supply China with horses, sausage casing, pelts and hides in exchange for silks, cement, chemicals, machine accessories and sundry articles.

Ministers Are Seeking Support

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Several Baptist ministers are trying to get the support of 1,134 of the state's ministers and lay leaders in a fight against a proposed mental health unit at the Arkansas Baptist Hospital in Little Rock.

They have mailed packets of information to the churchmen, including requests for support in opposing the unit. The ministers contend the project is a violation of the separation of church and state principle.

They requested that letters opposing the unit be written to the president of the Arkansas Baptist Convention, the Convention's executive board and the Arkansas Baptist News magazine. The ministers said they did not plan any other direct action before the next meeting of the convention in November. Convention delegates ap-proposed the project at a meeting last year by a written vote of 297 to 262, with 428 abstaining. The opposition contends that the delegates were not adequately informed on the project and that they acted in haste in approving it.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ashdown, Ark., will get a $254,025 loan from the Public Housing Administration to help finance construction of 24 low-rent homes, PHA said Tuesday.

DeGaulle Popular

PARIS (AP) — A poll shows President Charles de Gaulle's popularity on the upswing. The latest survey of the French Public Opinion Institute showed 56 per cent of the persons questioned said they were "satisfied" with De Gaulle as against 51 per cent at the end of November.

More than 42 billion steel "tin" cans are produced each year in the United States.
